INTRODUCTION

You're no stranger to astrology, now are you?

You already know your Sun Sign, and probably the Sun Signs of your spouse, your children, your best friends, your family ... and even people who you may hope eventually to put into one of those categories!

Women conceive children in January and February „so I'll have a Scorpio." Men marry Gemini and then realize it's the closest thing to bigamy when they discover that Gemini split-personality. People have been known to take jobs because "the boss is a Libra and I get along well with Libras."

Astrology, of course, is much more than that. We are all part of our elements, and particularly those in force when we drew our first breath. The Sun Sign is the core of the personality, reflecting essentially what we are. But there were nine other planets (we will call the Sun and Moon planets here for simplification) in effect at the time of your birth ... all in different signs of their own. The Pisces Sun Signs, for example, that you know and love, are going to vary: one could be a 28-degree Pisces with Sagittarius ascending and the Moon in Aquarius - plus a 7th house conjunction of Jupiter, Uranus and Saturn in Gemini ... which is a different story from a 5-degree Pisces with Cancer ascending, the Moon in Scorpio, and three other planets in Leo.

But the Sun Sign does remain, if you'll pardon the ambiguity, the heart of your soul. You're a Taurus, for example, because at the time of your birth the Earth was on a section of its orb which we call "Taurus" the same way you call the street where you live Oak Street. This section of the Earth's orb produces a certain set of characteristics in people who are born during the time it occupies that section, and they are the characteristics of the Taurus personality. It's as simple as that.

There's a very subtle beauty to astrology. We are all hungry to explore our own psyches and to understand those around us. There's a psychic vacuum in all of us, a spiritual force that connects us with one another that astrology attempts to define ... and has been defining since before the pyramids.

Many times the definition is valuable and fits. Sometimes, due to factors beyond an astrologer's control, the definition doesn't fit. Oh, but when it does ... there's a brief glimpse of something we may not have otherwise seen, an insight we may not have otherwise known, a strength we may not have otherwise touched.

Where people once were strangers, there's something more. Call it an awareness. Call it a kinship. But it's there.

If this book can start you on the road to a deeper understanding of astrology, and of the life force infused in all of us at birth, then it will have served its purpose.

Don't be a stranger ...

March 21 to April 20

SYMBOL: THE RAM

QUALITY: Cardinal

RULER:MARS

ELEMENT: Fire

INTRODUCTION

Where would the world be without Aries?

Take away the people born March 21 to April 21 and you take away the vision of a Thomas Jefferson, the creative ability of a Van Gogh, the musical pioneering of a Bach.

In short, you would take away the beginning of hundreds of ideas and inventions.

So what if you are driven by your dynamic need to be first? If that's what it takes to motivate your enterprising spirit, the rest of the world is going to ultimately benefit.

New ideas, new schemes, brilliant organization - these are the forces within you. If you're not capable of bringing about great things yourself, you will use someone else as an instrument ... provided you get the credit, of course, and invariably you do.

Your strong ego, your self-centered ways may make you disliked, but you ignore it since your total concentration is always on the goal at hand.

As a Sun Sign, Aries can be divided into three groups or decanates, each with a separate personality.

If you were born March 21-March 31 (approximately), you have the strongest force of the sign. You are unusually aggressive, probably very argumentative, but capable of all the charisma that Aries is famous for.

Born April 1-April 11, you are much more loving than the other members of this sign. You can also be extremely egotistical. There's a strong sense of showmanship in this division of Aries.

Born April 11-April 21, you have an expansive quality, and you can be over-indulgent and sometimes extravagant. You are much more philosophical than other Aries decanates, with more mental aggression.

Your best trait, as an Aries, is your positive courage. Your worst fault can be your reckless arrogance.

The Aries keynote is "I am" - and doing everything in your power to assert your sense of being.

ARIES ROMANCE

Aries is a fire sign, and what could be more intense than a fire sign in love?

You're very susceptible to "love at first sight" and you generally make up your mind instantly about someone. Of course, it may be months before you ACT on the matter, but you know that eventually you will.

You're attracted to physically appealing types. Because of the Aries impatience, you are not apt to appreciate the traits that take longer to discover; personality and character, for example.

An Aries falls in love at least three times a week, but in a good year you'll meet two people that you have a strong rapport with. You're impetuous; you have been known to marry people you've only known a short time. (Obviously, they were Sun Signs clever enough to understand that you're most vulnerable when your interest has just been captured ... let it wane, and you're more difficult to catch!)

Nobody handles an affair with the intensity of Aries. Some signs may write better love letters; some signs may even have a better physical approach; some signs may even be richer. But you, the Aries, will not be forgotten, even when an affair is over. Years later, even married to someone else, former affairs will often wistfully remark, "I wonder what ever happened to ... ?"

What indeed! You were out chasing somebody else as quickly as the other affair ended.

An Aries is the second-best dramatizer in the zodiac. (Sorry - Leo gets the top prize.) When an affair is over, you like to be thought of as someone strong enough to love and lose and forget it. It's important to you, however, to have someone on your mind at all times. You need to know that somebody out there is thinking about you and wanting you, regardless of your own feelings about them.

Your incredible self-reliance often irritates your love partners. Aries rarely understands the strength of surrender, or the need to bend, to want someone else.

Passionate involvement is your biggest strength in a romantic situation. It's all a matter of channeling it to the proper sign.

COMPATIBILITY GUIDE FOR ARIES:

With another Aries: This is a good healthy match. You're one step ahead of the game if the other Aries has never taken a balloon ride or any other off-the-beaten-track amusement you can think of. (But then you knew that all along, didn't you?)

Taurus: Taurus expect little gifts of love, and things like poetry and surprising romantic gestures. They also expect steady devotion, which Aries isn't always capable of. Romance with Taurus is usually great in the beginning for an Aries.

Gemini: A very good match. Gemini has a detached way that fascinates Aries because of the hard-to-get quality that appeals to the Aries sense of status.

Cancer: Not such a hot match. Cancers can feel like stones around an Aries neck. It's the proximity that usually breaks up these romances. Neither sign can take one another in heavy doses.

Leo: This is another fire sign, so the match is good. Leo's values however can sometimes irritate Aries.

Virgo: This is so-so with Aries. Virgos are demanding and fussy in romantic matters, want everything their way. Many of them are worth the effort, even for Aries. Then again, many of them aren't.

Libra: Libra is the opposite sign of Aries, so these romances are either love or hate. Libras do have a calming influence on Aries.

Scorpio: The Aries "love 'em or leave 'em" attitude will appeal to Scorpio. You'll find good common ground with the Pluto children, but expect a fair share of arguments.

Sagittarius: This is a good match, especially for the Aries who is born April 11-21. Expect many verbal slings, but a healthy rapport.

Capricorn: Capricorns are serious and super-conscious of game-playing. It's not likely to work, particularly if there's a competitive factor. However, if you're rich ...

Aquarius: Aquarians make good friends for Aries, poor lovers.

Pisces: Pisces sometimes knows too much about Aries. which can be healthy or dangerous depending upon what they know. You'll find them mysterious, and will meet a lot of them in connection with institutional work.

ARIES - MARRIAGE AND FAMILY RELATIONSHIPS

Picture a domestic scene of several youngsters reading and doing homework, a father watching TV, and a mother sewing contentedly on a near-by sofa.

There's one thing you can be certain of with that picture: nobody in the scene is an Aries!

You're happiest in the home situation that revolves around you (that Aries need to be first emerges even here), but isn't dependent on you. Other people's needs have a way of making you feel trapped, and while you dearly love your spouse and your children, you expect them to be independent ... just like you.

You're curiously sentimental about the idea of home and family and hearth, and you can be highly idealistic about family members, because roots are extremely important to you, even if they may not get acknowledged except on holidays and important occasions.

The family element you feel most part of - and few of your sign will admit this - is the one in which you grew up. It's an odd fact about Aries, that even with the pioneering spirit that is your trademark, you will always be more attached to your own parents than to your spouse ... to the house you grew up in rather than the house where your own children are growing.

Your immediate family will always be the nucleus of your life, and you strive diligently to make your spouse and children as much of a part of that family as you are.

Your mate is lucky to have you. You are very ambitious for your spouse. If you're a male, you were all for promoting women long before the idea became socially chic. If you're a woman, you won't let up until your husband is "first" - which is where you figure anybody you're married to ought to be.

Your ideal marriage partner is probably attractive, fair, somewhat indecisive (which is why it is good he or she is married to you), and a bit of an idealist. Aries usually marries for love, with the idea of "changing" their spouses later. A few members of your sign marry for prestige and money, but there is usually a strong Capricorn influence in their total chart.

Large families predominate in an Aries household, since most of you probably come from large families. You're an excellent parent. and your children are apt to grow up with strong imaginations which you cultivated in their childhood. (Remember Hans Christian Andersen? He was an Aries!) The Aries household usually has more sons than daughters. provided all else is equal in your mate's horoscope.

Relationships with children:

You are probably very much attached to your oldest child (he or she was first!) and an Aries parent unfortunately shows favoritism with offspring. You're most comfortable with your fire sign children - another Aries, Leo or Sagittarius - because they are the most active and you relate better to active children. Your temper can squelch and probably hurt a water-sign child (Cancer, Pisces or Scorpio). Air sign children (Libra, Gemini and Aquarius) may seem distant to you, and their mental preoccupations will puzzle you. The exception might be Gemini, who is so much of a gad-about you'll be fascinated keeping up. Taurus. Virgo and Capricorn children may seem slow to you, and they're likely to ignore your admonishing. You would, however, probably have most in common with a Leo.

You aren't the sacrificial type for your children, but you provide them with so much else it may go unnoticed. You don't like to be outdone, and it's a rare Aries that will tolerate a spouse who spends more time with the children than with you.

Home location:

Aries thrives best in houses with strong eastern exposures, decorated in colors of spring. The one exception would be deep crimson, a hue that can provide good vibrations for Aries.

ARIES FINANCES

For all of your celebrated talent for impulsiveness and impatience, you're one tough cookie when it comes to money. You can make demands, worry over decisions, get impatient with financial advisers - but when somebody says "spend" you tighten the reins and become quite stubborn. You'll decide when all the facts are in, thank you. and not before.

You're very thorough in understanding where your money is going. You like to know it's producing something even if you can't see the tangible results. Once you're sold on a particular stock, you defy anybody to tell you it's not any good. You like your money to be DOING something: you would be happiest investing money in a trust fund for a child's political future than investing it in a private school for the same child. (You of all the signs know that money can buy power.)

You have a practical approach to money. If any problems arise. it's usually due to bad budgeting (I didn't say you knew much about budgeting!) or the fact that you sometimes wait so long to buy something that the prices goes up before you put your cash down.

You drive a hard bargain, and you're skilled in financial combat. Many people seek your advice on their own financial affairs because you've demonstrated shrewdness time and time again in your own money management.

You're not especially clever about insurance. and few people need more of it than The Ram. Insurance coverage — especially fire and accident coverage — is a "must".

Best time for spending: April 21 through May 21

Best financial advisor: Taurus

Best investments: Iron, steel, building materials, tobacco and property.

Biggest financial weakness: Art and things of beauty. You also spend a fortune in beauty parlors and barber shops.

Gambling tips: You're a bit reckless for gambling, but if you want to follow some Aries teams, consider the New York Mets and the New York Yankees — both incorporated under the sign of Aries.

Aries corporations: General Electric and Texaco are both Aries companies.

ARIES CAREER AND WORK

Your initiative and originality are two of the major reasons why Aries is always in demand by companies and employers. New ideas, new ways of doing things, and the courage to push them through are all part of your act and only a few of the reasons why most heads turn to you when a problem arises.

Of course, those very same traits are frequently your downfall. Your initiative, for example, gets you in trouble many times, since you rarely play politics in an organization and always move right on ahead with many of your projects, occasionally without permission. You're also the subject of jealousy from your more established counterparts, who often see you as "upsetting the apple cart" in business. (And never mind that the apple cart was ready to collapse on its own even before you came along!)

You're one of the best signs of all for self-employment. (You want YOU to be the benefactor of all those great ideas, don't you?) And many Aries-born people wind up doing just that — and doing it well.

However, you are not well-suited for small partnership enterprises. You're too provocative, and your temper at such close range in a delicate business environment may prove too much for others unless they're exceptionally thick-skinned.

You must remember in choosing a career — or in assessing the one you have now — that your basic need is to lead. If you are in a subordinate position now, you should be channeling your career drive to whatever it will take to put you on the top; for that's where you will be happiest and where your leadership talent will shine .

Typical Aries occupations: Executive and administrative positions; selling; public relations; medicine (surgery in particular); dentistry; hairdressing; mechanics; the military; health-oriented fields such as x-ray technology; anything involving head gear such as hats and wigs; enforcement agencies (police, FBI); chemistry (particularly if developing new formulas is part of the work).

Decanate specifics: Ariens born March 21-March 31 should seek out careers that keep them moving constantly, and where verbal rapport is important. Born April 1-11, you will have greater luck in reaching the heights on the job because of the extra glory quotient in your horoscope; careers that require style and good taste will be especially lucrative for you. Born April 12-April 21, you should control your tendency to try for too much too soon; outdoor work is going to be especially appealing to your decanate.

Best Career Times: April 21-May 21 for financial gains and asking for raises; July 21- August 21 for general success; December 21-January 21 for career recognition or job-hunting.

Best boss: Capricorn

Best subordinate: Virgo

Sign to watch out for: Pisces

Worst career mistake: Giving orders before you're the boss

HEALTH

Being Aries, you're apt to be physically strong and recover quickly from most illnesses. (Not that anybody understands why; you will not stay in bed for long, and you tend to ignore medical advice unless it makes logical sense to you.)

Your incredible stamina and quick recovery is one of the biggest blessings your friends and family can have: you're the worst patient imaginable!

Aries injuries are generally to the head and face and you usually run high fevers when you are ill. You probably entered adulthood with some sort of scar from some forgotten bout that has been labeled "permanent." Other sensitive areas are the adrenal gland, intestines and liver.

You're germ-conscious and interested in your health. You are constantly urging friends to take up some new healthy recreation that you, naturally, discovered before anybody. You were probably the first on the block to discover yoga, too, which is highly beneficial to your Mars-ruled force.

You sometimes go overboard with your health fads. Many of your sign are under doctor's care because of an over-indulgence on a particular vitamin, or a strained muscle from an exercise their bodies just weren't ready for.

A prime Aries problem is insomnia that can sap your energy. Most of your nights are spent tossing and turning, and you are usually kept awake by a new idea or a new what that you've just thought about for doing something routine. It's a common complaint from your sign that you can't turn your mind off in the evening.

Some good Aries health habits:

- Avoid physical strain, particularly if you were born between March 31 and April 9. When you decide you can move mountains, why not at least find another Aries to help you?

- Avoid foods that cause intestinal problems. Gas is a common Aries complaint. (Ask yourself honestly — do you really need those six carbonated beverages you drink every day?)

- Get regular check-ups, boring as they are to you. And don't tell your doctor what you think is wrong with you when you go in.

- Keep your pets checked regularly. No one quite knows why, but many Aries-born individuals are subject to diseases carried by small animals.

- Invest in good herbs and foods. Among those that Aries rules: mustard, ginger, radishes.

- Your best doctor: a Virgo.

- Your best exercise: Tennis and volleyball.

- Walk straight to avoid back fatigue, a common Aries complaint. Ever notice how an Aries seems to walk head-first. That's right — just like a ram.

ARIES GOALS HOPES AND WISHES

The key phrase to Aries in astrology is "I am", and many of your hopes and wishes can be directly attributed to establishing your importance and furthering your leadership ability.

The most important lesson for you to learn in reaching your goals is how necessary and vital the assistance of other people can be. This is particularly important because of your phenomenal ability to start things, but your inherent weakness at ever wanting to finish them.

The more your goals contribute to the welfare of others, or make a contribution that will benefit many, the better channeled your particular goals can become. This doesn't necessarily mean humanitarian work: the social service worker who eases somebody's suffering and the president of a corporation who creates jobs for thousands both make a sizeable contribution.

In summary, an Aries is meant to lead, but without followers you may never see the full scope of your goals.

Additional astrological insight into reaching your goals is possible by knowing the time of your birth. Though this is by no means a total astrological picture, it does provide direction.

If you were born between 4 and 6 AM, this is the true leadership position, the "double Aries" signature. You have the additional ability to finish much of what you start, which isn't common in an Aries. Look to Aquarius individuals for assistance.

If you were born between 2 and 4 AM, you may have to work unusually hard and find several disappointments before realizing your wishes. However this is primarily due to the very high standards you have set for yourself. The difficulty you sometimes find in getting what you want usually makes the achievement that much sweeter once you do obtain it. Capricorns can be very helpful to you.

If you were born between midnight and 2 AM, your originality should be put into communication. You will find many benefits through brothers and sisters. You have unusually philosophical aims, almost as if a divine calling were involved in the ideas themselves. Listen to Sagittarian friends.

If born between 10 PM and midnight, it's important to keep your demands at a minimum. You can sometimes squeeze people to death in an effort to get what you want out of them. Cultivate judgment as to what others are capable of delivering. The sign Scorpio is prominent in people who can be of assistance to you.

If born between 8 PM and 10 PM, you probably do not really know what you want out of life. You allow yourself to be manipulated many times by others, since your own direction is fuzzy. You're apt to marry a close friend, or at least develop a strong partnership with a good friend, which will help you in years to come. Seek out Librans for consolation.

If born between 6 PM and 8 PM, your goals may be unrealistic. It's important to decide what is possible in your life, and to learn the difference between a dream and an illusion. It's very important with this position not to discuss your plans with others, because it's almost certain you'll lose interest once you do! Cultivate a few Virgo associates.

If born between 4 PM and 6 PM, you must learn to give until it hurts! Your keynote is service, and in promoting and working for the benefit of others, you will ultimately find what it is that you yourself want. A Leo individual can be a good advisor.

If born between 2 PM and 4 PM, you must watch your critical attitude with other people. This has probably been costly in your personal life already. You can also be one of the more timid members of your sign (yes, it is possible!) and prefer to deal with people on a one-to-one basis rather than in large groups. This is not a weakness, however, and can be helpful. Try to make one of those people a Cancer individual.

If born between noon and 2 PM, your greatest strength is your instant ability to make friends. You also have a highly dramatic streak in you that enhances your fascinating qualities. Your biggest problem is that people can usually sense your enormous ego. Geminis will be sympathetic.

If born between 10 AM and noon, let's hope one of your goals has to do with your career, because this is a great horoscope for it! Your biggest motivator is probably money, primarily for its power and not for what it can buy. You should avoid insisting on first place all of the time. Taurus-born people make good friends and great promoters.

If born between 8 AM and 10 AM, you are one of the luckier Aries, since you were probably engrained with confidence early in life, and you have always had the approval of those who meant a great deal to you. You need to learn to formulate your plans before discussing them. Another Aries makes a good companion.

If born between 6 AM and 8 AM, your endurance is one of your biggest strengths. You must work very hard to keep from being over-shadowed, and you find yourself frequently in supportive positions. You should cultivate random interests. You'll find Pisceans concerned with your best interests.

THE ARIES SUBCONSCIOUS

Deep down in every Aries is a kind-hearted, sympathetic attitude that you would probably call "soft" in anybody else. You like to know that you've done something to help someone out, or to ease somebody else's burden. You're not apt to talk about it; it's not really the image you care to project.

You feel sorry for people, though pity is not a prime motivator to Mars-ruled types like yourself. You'll study a situation for a long time, steadily ignoring action, until suddenly — with a burst of energy — there will be outward assistance from you . . . unexplained, usually unrequested, but always appreciated by the recipient.

You'll ignore any attempts to pay you back. The whole thing embarrasses you anyway.

You spend a great deal of time and talk in convincing people that you're not like this; you don't like the idea of people depending on you and you quickly dub anybody a "clinging vine" who seems to need you too much.

What's behind it all is a highly altruistic feeling that even an Aries would have a hard time defining; you are the first sign of the zodiac, the representation of the equinox, the symbol of beginnings and hope and all the things that springtime means.

Deep down, every Aries knows that whoever is first will always have an obligation to those that follow.

And that, just possibly, is the core of the Aries nature.

TAURUS

April 21 to May 20

SYMBOL: THE BULL
RULER: VENUS

QUALITY: Fixed
ELEMENT: Earth

INTRODUCTION

What's the most potent force on the face of the earth?
The endurance of a Taurus.

If you were born April 21 to May 20, you have probably found that the victories and the spoils of life have been your simply because you outlasted the competition — either by determination or sheer mental strength.

There's a lot of power in your sign, so — to give the rest of the world an even edge — nature has engrained a certain amount of indulgence and laziness in all Taureans. Consequently, on the negative side, there are many people who would say that the only reason a Taurus is noted for your refusal-to-budge is because it would have required too much effort in the first place.

Not that you care what anybody thinks. You'll hold on to your opinion come hell or high water, and die if you have to, defending what you thought was right. Did I say defending? No, that's a bit much. A Taurus would die simply hanging on to what he or she thought was right. You would leave the defense tactics to the Sagittarians.

Your motto is "blossom where you're planted." Fixed sign that you are, you rarely leave your place of birth and you grow into prominence there. Picked up and thrown into the middle of a new environment, however, a Taurus never goes to pieces. You'll slowly assess the situation and begin your determined adjustment . . . hopefully surrounded by pleasant scenery and good music. (You knew, of course, that many of the most popular singers — from Bing Crosby to Barbra Streisand — were born under the sign of Taurus?)

A Taurus Sun Sign can be even further defined by the divisions — or decanates — of the sign.

If you were born April 21 to May 1, you're the strongest Taurus type. You have a fine understanding of art forms and beauty, regardless of whether you are an interior decorator, a needlework artist, or simply an appreciator.

If you were born May 2 to May 11, you're much more adaptable than the average Taurus and not apt to be quite as stubborn. You're also more talkative.

Born May 12 to May 20, you are conventional and conservative. You have a knack for seeing how anything (and anyone) can be improved. You have strong leadership abilities, and a good sense of purpose.

Your best trait is compassion. Your worst fault is apt to be self-indulgence.

Your Taurus keynote in astrology is "I have."

TAURUS ROMANCE

In romantic matters, Taurus can be hopeless putty in another sign's hands. Intense, passionate — one of the sexiest signs of the zodiac (second only to Scorpio) — you're an incurable romantic.

First of all, your romantic interest MUST be attractive — and unlike other signs, who set their own standards of beauty, you subscribe to the universal standard. Your affair must be a conversation-stopper. Good looks are important to you.

Second, your romantic interest must be subservient to you — you're highly jealous, and take offense easily if you think you're being ignored.

Third, you're a one-person affair; it's not likely that you "play the field." (Taurus is a fixed sign, and fixed signs just don't do things like that!)

You seek security from your romantic attachments; you're easily hurt in love since your prime factor in choosing a romantic interest is beauty or security. Thus, you are much too easily impressed with external trappings; how someone looks, dresses, the car they drive — this all takes on importance to a Taurus. In any event, you are so vulnerable in love matters that others can take advantage of you. Therefore it's always wise — if possible — to proceed with caution in romantic matters until it's well-established that the feeling is mutual.

YOUR COMPATIBILITY WITH OTHER SIGNS:

With another Taurus: This can result in a battle of wills, but it's likely that you'll probably be considered "the most attractive couple around."

Gemini: Gemini is not apt to be patient with what can be Taurus' stodgy ways, but there can be mutual fascination. The Taurus strength can be devastating to a flighty Gemini, whereas the Gemini butterfly quality can be fascinating to a Taurus. Generally, though, Taurus is much too earthy for Gemini's impatient ways.

Cancer: Cancers have a sensitivity to things that are beautiful, and that could be mutual ground for Taurus and Cancer. There is a basic need for different kinds of security with both signs, and it frequently makes a good match.

Leo: This is a difficult match. Leo must dominate, and this is OK with Taurus (there's security in domination!) until the Taurean will is determined to have something else. Leos glitter, however, and Taurus is notoriously attracted to gold.

Virgo: A good match. There is much practical affinity between Taurus and Virgo and both are earth signs. It could be one of the great romances of all time.

Libra: Since both Taurus and Libra are ruled by Venus, this can be a made-in-heaven match. Libra encourages Taurus.

Scorpio: Probably either the most deadly, or the most invigorating match in the zodiac. Taurus and Scorpio are physically powerful, highly intuitive, and the combination is strictly black velvet. Proceed with caution, but even if it doesn't work, it'll be the most memorable experience of your life.

Sagittarius: The Taurean ability to listen will come in handy with a Sagittarian relationship, but there are few Sagittarians who can inspire the security that a Taurean needs.

Capricorn: Another good match, since Capricorn is also an earth sign. Capricorn is more serious than Taurus, and may expect constant courtly attention. The Capricorn capacity for hard work takes a dim view of the Taurus indulgence.

Aquarius: Taurus and Aquarius are not supposed to be compatible signs, but Aquarian's unconventional views and essential kindness can appeal to Taurus. Aquarians are also "beautiful inside", and this too can make a Taurus melt.

Pisces: There's not much practical ground between Taurus and Pisces. In such a relationship, the Piscean is usually more in love with the Taurus. Taureans are not likely to devote any segment of their life exclusively to Pisces, but probably find Pisces numbered among their best friends.

Aries: This can be another battle of wills, and Aries always seems to be able to predict how a Taurus will react. This eventually can cause boredom in such a relationship.

TAURUS MARRIAGE AND FAMILY RELATIONSHIPS

Nobody takes greater strength from home, family and children than a Taurus.

Your home and family ties are important to you, not just because they are bonds of love, but because they are spiritual possessions, and possessing is a strong need in the Taurus nature.

It's a rare Taurus, for that reason, who sets up a live-in arrangement with a member of the opposite sex. You must know there is a legal, secure bond there.

Your mate is someone who gives you a strong sense of security. It's in the Taurus blood to lean on a spouse. Most Taureans marry smart people, usually mysterious, and attractive. You're explicitly faithful to your mate, and it would take a strong provocation for you to be otherwise (like your spouse walking out on you!). You have a strong jealous streak in your nature where your mate is concerned; here again, this can be attributed to your seeing family as possessions. Consequently, when others show attention to him or her, you show your colors immediately — red and green!

Besides jealousy, another topic in the Taurus home that dominates is money. Either your spouse spends too much or doesn't allow you to spend enough on your personal indulgences. Many Taureans also want a great deal of insurance, income-protection, etc., and this can also be a subject of discord if you don't think there is enough.

Relationships with children:

Most Taureans want a large family (more than 4 children), even if they don't actually have them. You're a good parent, and your children are no doubt the best behaved on the block, because good manners and respect for others (and their possessions) is important to you. It's unusual to find the offspring of a Taurus into vandalism or property destruction.

Your favorite child would be a Virgo, another earth sign like yourself, who would bring you a great deal of happiness. You would also have good rapport with your Capricorn youngsters and, of course, with Taurus children. Libra, Gemini and Aquarius might strike you as being hyper-active, with the Aquarius probably being the most difficult of the three air signs to contend with. Aries youngsters would provide a steady conflict of wills, as would Leo and Sagittarius but to a lesser degree. Good harmony is possible with your water-sign children: though Scorpio could bring some problems, you would find a lot to love in your Cancer and Pisces offspring.

Home location:

Taureans like to live in houses that are in the middle of a block, surrounded by other homes (it increases your sense of security). Your house must be filled with sunlight, so the more windows, and the bigger they are, the better. Lots of plants and art can help make you productive and happy.

TAURUS FINANCES

Where money is concerned, Taurus shines. (Unless, of course, you married an extravagant Leo or a spendthrift Sagittarius, in which case you must compromise.) You are a natural when it comes to value, and though some may call you "cheap", it's because you're slow and deliberate about a purchase. You're the one sign in the zodiac who can actually wait until an item is put on sale.

But whoever gets the Taurus dollar has to work for it. It's not that you're indecisive; you are just curious as to what you're getting for your dollar.

You're practical when you are spending. Your children, for example, get what they need for Christmas, not necessarily what they want. (You don't believe that, do you? My mother is a Taurus, and do you have any idea what it's like to get a blue wool robe for Christmas 10 years in a row?)

There is one slight exception. You're a push-over for beautiful things. You're notoriously self-indulgent when it comes to linens and art and hotel rooms with magnificent views. Not for you the fast-food lunch. A Taurus will indulge in an expensive lunch and not regret it for a moment.

You are exceptional at budgeting and mathematics, and most Taureans make very good accountants. You can locate an error better than most people because you'll not give up until you do.

Best spending time: May 21-June 21

Best financial advisor: Gemini

Best investments: Meat companies, leather outlets, tobacco, and anything dealing with the arts as long as it's within conservative lines.

Biggest financial weakness: Show-off items

Gambling tips: a Taurus isn't very good at gambling, but you may want to follow some sports teams incorporated under the sign of Taurus: the Philadelphia Phillies, the Minnesota Twins are two such examples.

Taurus corporations: Procter and Gamble; Holiday Inns, Inc.

Profitable hobby: Coin collecting.

TAURUS CAREER AND WORK

Where your career is concerned, your greatest motivator is security. You don't even mind working for a low salary if you know you're appreciated and your job is relatively safe from the onslaughts of profit pictures or corporate politics. Taureans constantly worry about losing their jobs and being fired; and even though your sign is the most loyal to your work and your company, you can become a job-hopper when you think you are in a company that doesn't give you the security you need.

You're basically kind to the people who answer to you. You're also very fair, even to the point of being indecisive at times as to what the fairest decision would be.

You do not mind hard work and you don't mind details. You are also very patient regarding any "rise to the top" in your career. You have another good advantage in your stick-to-it-iveness.

Taureans can be temperamental; that explosive temper does sometimes manifest with employers and employees. But you have to be extremely provoked to do so.

Taurus occupations: Banks, anything involving money, accounting, auditing, medicine (Taurus makes a good throat specialist), real estate, gardening, entertaining, administrative work.

Decanate specifics: Born April 21-May 1, you're inclined to the arts, or to administrative positions involving the arts, or any strong creative field. Born May 2-May 11, you're more communicative than the average Taurus, and could lean toward journalism or any field that involves communicative abilities. Born May 12-May 20, you're the most disciplined of the sign, and you do well in jobs that require detail and nose-to-the grindstone tactics.

Best career times: Based on your Taurus Sun Sign alone, you're apt to find career success between May 21 and June 21 (a good time for raises), Sept. 21 and Oct. 21 (for general career advancement), and January 21 through February 21 (a good time for changing jobs or for prominence on the one you have).

Best boss: Aquarius. They'll recognize your talents quicker than the other signs, challenge your sedentary ways and goad you to greatness. They can also strike you as royal pains in the neck, sometimes, but — like carrots to children — they're good for you.

Best subordinate: Libra

Sign to watch out for: Aries

Worst career mistake: Laziness

TAURUS HEALTH

Taureans can rarely accept the fact when they become ill.

"I come from hardy stock!" is a typical Taurus exclamation. And, though you sometimes welcome the chance to lie in bed all day and be pampered, you're not apt to complain that much. Taurus children are the types that happily go off to school with high fevers, their parents totally unaware.

You're blessed with a good strong constitution, so it's not likely that you're besieged with serious illness. The sign Taurus rules the throat, neck, ears, tonsils, vocal cords, and Taurus is susceptible to diseases involving these parts of the body. Laryngitis, for example, is a chronic Taurus disease.

You're more inclined than the other signs to dissipation and other diseases caused by the Taurus penchant for over-indulgence. Lack of exercise — a word Taurus loathes — can also cause other problems, such as poor circulation.

Some good Taurus health habits:

- Invest in a health spa and attend it regularly. Even though you dislike exercise and diet, the beauty of the surroundings will appeal to you.

- Investigate health foods that have good visual appeal. Taurus won't try anything unless it's attractive.

- Buy a calorie counter and record your caloric expenditures at the end of the day.

- Find a sport you really enjoy. Tennis is a good example and many Taureans are its biggest cheerleaders.
- Good sources for Taurus nutrition: wheat germ (Taurus rules wheat fields), and spinach (another Taurus-ruled edible).
- Set up the best dental program you can find. You are the most susceptible to mysterious ailments indirectly caused by bad dental problems.

TAURUS HOPES WISHES AND GOALS

The one factor that many people consider your biggest fault — your stubborn ways — is your biggest strength when it comes to getting what you want.

You are one of the few signs that can visualize a goal and then steadily chip away at it until it is realized. You see things through, and your enduring patience may take awhile to be rewarded, but eventually it is. And you usually savor the sweetness of it all that much more, because it required the effort.

You have no doubt learned in many cases — or you will later on — that happiness is a way of traveling and not a destination. Taurus cheerfully enjoys the pursuit of a goal as much as the goal itself.

Your greatest successes in life — and your attitudes toward them — can be further seen astrologically through the time of your birth. This isn't a complete astrological assessment, but it does provide insight.

If you were born between 4 and 6 AM, you are a "double Taurus." Your strength shines basically in you yourself. You obviously realized early in life that you were all you had if you wanted to get anywhere. Your goals usually involve the accumulation of possessions. Persons helpful to you are usually born under the sign of Pisces.

If you were born between 2 and 4 AM, you have strong forceful characteristics, with more drive than the average Taurus. It's a surefire hit in achieving what you want, which is usually through compelling steady force. Biggest booster: Aquarius.

If you were born between Midnight and 2 AM, you're a bit dreamier than the average Taurus, and possibly not as practical. You like to write, and you no doubt travel a great deal, or at least set travel as a goal. Your visionary strength is your biggest asset. You can also count on Capricorn friends to help you out.

If you were born between 10 PM and midnight, you have a less conventional approach to life than most Taureans. Though the conflict in your nature is sometimes confusing to others, you steer a steady inward course. You should lean on Sagittarians to help you achieve what you want.

If born between 8 PM and 10 PM, you may have a harder time than most Taureans getting what you want, since you are the least inclined to abandon your indulgence. Keep in mind what one wise millionaire once said: "Nobody will ever be a success who must have steak for lunch every day." Listen to Scorpio friends.

If you were born between 6 PM and 8 PM, you may find that you will be following more than leading in life, but if you learn to relax and enjoy it, you'll soon discover what you want in life ... even if somebody else puts you on to it. That could be a Libra individual, very helpful to your goals.

If you were born between 4 PM and 6 PM, you will find yourself enormously dependent on others to achieve your goals, and you will have to control your "do it my way" technique. Ask a Virgo for assistance.

If you were born between 2 PM and 4 PM, you have a high degree of intuition, which, combined with your patience and perseverance, could help you reach what you want in life. You're more spirited than other Taureans, and more materialistic. Leos can be helpful to you.

If you were born between Noon and 2 PM, you are better given to abstract thought than other Taureans, and may set your sights higher than is healthy. Your will and spirit, however, are beautifully coupled. You'll find Aquarius helpful.

If born between 10 AM and Noon, your great leadership ability, flair and ego will help you reach your goals — which may very well include recognition. Gemini's are good for you.

If born between 8 AM and 10 AM, your best points of interest are to display your talents in group activities. Look to other Taurus's for judgment.

If born between 6 AM and 8 AM, you have a strong subconscious going for you. You are also one of the great conversationalists of the Taurus sign. You must guard against dissipating your goals; your greatest weakness with this birth time is that you try to put your strong will to too many efforts. An Aries can help you out.

TAURUS SUBCONSCIOUS ATTITUDE

There is a strong need for completion to you, and this is a dominant chord in your subconscious song. You seek completion in yourself, you seek completion to all things you undertake. Only a Taurus could see the perfection of an ordinary circle — the no end/no beginning graphic of it is pleasing to your sense or order.

This is basically the key to the Taurus endurance. To leave something unfinished, something unsaid is foreign to your hidden nature.

It's the Taurus mother who can go through a sewing box full of a daughter's half-completed projects and finish them up. It is a Taurus who generally gets the task done that others have thrown aside in exasperation.

You're the sign that finishes off the wars an Aries starts, or the book the Gemini tries to write, or the home the Cancer cannot quite get built, or the drama the Leo hasn't thoroughly enacted, or the project the Capricorn became too depressed to finish.

You have been born with a knowledge no other sign knows intuitively; that nothing is really impossible if you try, that anything can be accomplished — and finished.

You're a Taurus — and the rest of the world is a little richer because of it.

GEMINI

May 21 to June 20

SYMBOL: THE TWINS
RULER: MERCURY

QUALITY: Mutable
ELEMENT: Air

INTRODUCTION

Try to understand a Gemini and you're likely to miss the whole point of knowing one ... or being one, for that matter, if you were born May 21 to June 20.

You're meant to be appreciated, not understood and — most of the time — people do best not to take you too seriously. Your Mercurial change of mind is legendary; what could be the grande cause one day is likely to be the boredom of the century tomorrow.

There are some things, however, that are constant about you. Your ability to talk, of course, and to communicate with others is one of these things. You're no doubt witty, with a great ability to make people laugh. You have a talent for saying things that everyone else may have been only thinking because they couldn't express it quite as well as you. Think of John F. Kennedy's eloquence, or Bob Hope's timeless monologues, or whatever-it-was that Wallis Simpson whispered to the King of England that made him abandon the British throne for a lifetime with her. Every one of them is a Gemini.

Because you're dualistic, you can be misconstrued as distant and moody. No two people will describe you in quite the same way, since you are a bit of a chameleon, always changing colors to adapt to the scenery.

You're seemingly brilliant; all Geminis seem smart, even if they aren't and even if they are poor students. (That Gemini impatience and restlessness is usually very confined in a classroom atmosphere, and can rarely overcome a teacher who isn't stimulating or interesting.)

There are three different kinds of Gemini sun signs, depending upon the decanate in which you were born.

Geminis born May 21-May 30 are the most restless, the best writers and communicators and the least consistent.

Born May 31 to June 11, you're much more decisive than your other Gemini counterparts. You also have a more gentle approach, and a better ability to balance the duality of the Gemini nature. You also have a good artistic sense, and seem warmer than the other decanates of the sign.

If you were born June 12 to June 21, you are the most original of the Gemini thinkers and you have a certain sense of adventure more daring than the other decanates. You are also the least understood — not that a Gemini is EVER understood — but you have a cavalier attitude and could care less what sort of impression you leave with people.

GEMINI ROMANCE

Think "two" and you'll probably begin to understand your basic romantic nature. You're rarely faithful in romantic matters, and it doesn't have so much to do with love as it does with the two facets to every Gemini personality. It's rare that a poor Gemini will find one person to satisfy both.

The most frustrating part to anyone who loves you is your seemingly cavalier attitude to romance. As a Gemini, you almost expect a romantic attachment to be understanding about your other loves. And you are frequently annoyed if they aren't!

Geminis exhibit their famous impatience in romance as they do in most other areas of their lives. You're intrigued by the people who appeal to you mentally and physically, and the way to your heart is usually through your mind. This doesn't necessarily mean that your romantic partners have to be brilliant; if you're the typical Gemini you will automatically think they are whether they are or not. But they must suit your idea of whatever "mentally bright" means. This can, in many cases, simply mean that they think YOU are unusually bright.

As a Gemini, you're surprisingly insecure in your love relationships once you're hooked. Since you have spent a great part of your life casting off people who have wanted you, you somehow think you will "get what's coming" when you start feeling strongly about someone else.

Another factor contributing to Gemini's insecurity is that you tend to weave many of your relationships on gossamer figments of your imagination. Frequently, your relationships don't live up to the enormously favorable portrait you have mentally painted of them. You then go on to subconsciously expect disappointment in romance, and that's one of the reasons you find it.

But — since there are hundreds to choose from — and who can move faster with more charm than a Gemini? — it's probably all in the game for you in the long run.

YOUR COMPATIBILITY WITH OTHER SIGNS:

Another Gemini: Great, of course, because of the mental combination.

Cancer: Gemini may be too insensitive for Cancer, but Cancers can provide tranquility that a Gemini usually needs badly. You get impatient with Cancer's clinging ways.

Leo: This match has good possibilities, but Leo's ego can bore you.

Virgo: There's an excellent mental rapport between Virgo and Gemini, since you are both ruled by Mercury. Virgos precise ways are stifling.

Libra: This is the best sign of all for you, all else being equal in the total horoscopes. Libra will allow Gemini simply to be — whatever your faults.

Scorpio: You'll have little defense against the Scorpio magnetism. Scorpio's depth and mystery will no doubt appeal to your curiosity. A Scorpio is highly perceptive of you which can be either good or bad depending upon who is the most in love.

Sagittarius: You'll either love or hate a Sagittarian. There's rarely a middle ground. This is the case of opposites attracting. Sagittarius is apt to expect more loyalty and honesty than Gemini cares to bring into a relationship.

Capricorn: Capricorns will not always share your sense of fun, unless you have a strong Capricorn influence in your own chart, and aren't that big on fun to begin with. Capricorn can also be gloomier than most Geminis like to think about, but you will like their devotion and find them curiously magnetic.

Aquarius: Geminis generally mesh beautifully with Aquarians. Ironically, when these two don't get along, they both blame it on each other's selfishness. And they're both right.

Pisces: You'll find much of yourself in the nebulous Pisces dualism. There's a great deal of understanding here, but Gemini can hurt Pisces without even realizing it.

Aries: A good match. Aries loves to start things, and Gemini loves the excitement of anything new. An Aries will always seem like a new attraction to a Gemini.

Taurus: If you want carefree abandon in your romantic relationships, maybe you better skip Taurus. However, if a Taurus has decided that Gemini is the greatest thing since sliced bread, you might as well give up. Nobody can beat a determined Taurus.

GEMINI MARRIAGE AND FAMILY RELATIONSHIPS

There are two kinds of Geminis when it comes to married life: those that are happily entrenched in their families, and those who find the state of wedlock a state of dead-lock — reeking with the boredom they've fought all their lives to avoid.

A happily-married Gemini has an exciting, interesting, alive partner, and sees the curiosity of children as new ways of learning and self-improvement. The unhappily-married Gemini has a partner with a need for security more than excitement, who provides little change and no stimulus on a day-to-day basis.

Your ideal marriage partner, thus, is someone bright and intelligent, or at least smart enough to ask the right questions; emotionally secure, so you can roam without serious recrimination; and non-clinging, since you hate to be reminded of a commitment.

Since most of your sign marry young, Geminis generally do not realize their needs until the strains of the wedding march have long faded, and the strain of responsibility has definitely set in. So, consequently, the divorce rate among Geminis is higher than for most signs. The statistics aren't helped by the fact that you can be highly immature in marital relationships. The same charm that keeps you eternally young also makes you irresponsible in situations that demand security.

Some of your biggest problems in marriage, however, can deal with impatience and your basic emotional insecurity. Some Geminis have, for example, too strong a tie with their own parents which stems from their indecisiveness. This can create rifts in the home.

If this all sounds like a Gemini shouldn't marry at all, it isn't meant to; it simply means that you, of all signs, have to be the most selective about who you marry, and must know that a great deal of your carefree ways have to be abandoned for the sake of someone else. Which, if I recall, is what someone once said love was all about anyway.

Relationships with children:

You're a delight to your children, who see you as one of their own, and adore your imagination and story-telling abilities. You're weak, however, at disciplining your children since you rarely have much of a source of discipline in yourself from which to draw. You sometimes see yourself as your children's best friend, which you can't always be.

It's not likely that you have a big family; more than two children would be unusual for a Gemini, since it is considered a barren sign. (A marriage of two Geminis, for example, wouldn't be that likely to produce children.) On the other hand, your sign produces a great many multiple births.

You're happiest in a family of free spirits, and your favorite child would be a Libra, another air sign like yourself. A baby Gemini would also be a joy to you, as would an Aquarius youngster. Air signs have a non-clinging way about them that you like. You wouldn't relate as well to your water-sign children; Cancer, Scorpio and Pisces all have specific emotional needs, and meeting the emotional needs of others is a constant challenge to you. You'd tend to be at odds with Virgo children, though you would probably have good communication with your Taurus and Capricorn offspring. Fire signs like Aries and Leo would keep you alert and interested, and you would delight in showing them off. A Sagittarian would also have the spirited way about them that you like to see.

Your home location:

Northeast locations appeal to Gemini vibrations, and if your home does not have a direct exposure there may be a room or two in the house that does. Your favorite color is apt to be yellow and there is no doubt at least one room with a wall of books.

GEMINI FINANCES

You are among the most extravagant spendthrifts in the zodiac, since you spend out of boredom. Unlike your Taurean and Capricorn friends, you rarely "save for a rainy day." You want what you want NOW.

And usually, after the typical Gemini splurge, you'll find that you aren't really interested in any of the things you bought.

Another spending problem with you: you're always compelled to buy two of everything, regardless of whether you need it or not, and regardless of whether it's on sale.

You're notorious for conning money out of friends and relatives without interest, even though you rarely remember to pay it back. (You've probably lost several friends that way.) You are sometimes regarded as the con-artist or flim-flam character. You're prone to gamble.

Sales and bargains rarely interest you. You are usually skeptical about them, and do not want to take the time to "price shop" or ask around about items, even if it's for a major purchase such as a car or house. Admit it, Gemini. Thrift depresses you.

Best time for spending: June 21 through July 20

Best financial advisor: Cancer

Best investments: Newspapers, publishings, anything dealing with communication and words.

Biggest financial weakness: No real savings program.

Gambling tips: You gamble even if you do lose regularly. Try watching some Gemini teams, like the Boston Red Sox.

Gemini corporations: Chrysler Corporation was "born" under the sign of Gemini (June 6, 1925).

GEMINI CAREER AND WORK

Nobody is quite the dazzler in a career situation as a Gemini who happens to be totally career-involved. If you are a Gemini, you probably find that your bosses can scarcely keep up with your work output. You are capable of juggling several tasks at once, and you are nearly always described as "bright", "quick" and "talented." And you love it.

However, if you're bored at your job, you are just the opposite. Put a Gemini in a drudgery task that requires little imagination and could be done by a trained duck, and you wilt. All of the footwork that your sign is famous for suddenly becomes as foreign as an obscure tribal rite.

You must have a stimulating career or work interest that will channel your Mercurial energies, and provide satisfaction unfound in other areas. Work is probably one of the few classrooms where a Gemini can learn valuable lessons in discipline.

Interestingly, you probably have two jobs, not so much for the need for extra money as for the need of several outlets for your multiple talents. Many Geminis have full-time regular careers plus part-time money-earning options on the side. You are, of course, one of the few signs energetic enough to be able to do this — and it does sometimes cause nervous fatigue. But that doesn't keep you from giving up either job if you love them both.

Typical Gemini occupations: Writing, editing; stenography; court reporting; selling; traveling; airlines; radio announcing; television; printing; anything involving telephones; off-beat occupations.

Decanate specifics: Geminis born May 31-June 11 should combine their creative abilities with work that will bring them in contact with people. Geminis born May 21-May 30 should choose a career where they can talk, talk, talk. Gemini leaders and executives are usually born between June 12 and June 21.

Best career times: February 21-March 21 for career recognition and new jobs; Oct. 21-Nov. 21 for general success; June 21-July 21 for raises and asking for raises.

Best boss: Pisces

Best subordinate: Scorpio

Sign to watch out for: Taurus

Worst career mistake: Lack of concern for the feelings of subordinates

GEMINI HEALTH

As a sign, Gemini rules the arms, hands, lungs and nervous system, and consequently you will find yourself susceptible to diseases involving the nervous system, and to any illness that can be brought on by exhaustion or nervous tension.

You are also subject to psychosomatic illness — real illness brought on by mental or nervous disorders.

Another wrinkle in the Gemini health picture is that you are frequently difficult to diagnose. You should always seek second medical opinions for major illnesses or surgery.

As a child, you probably ended up with more hand and arm cuts than your playmates; it's a rare Gemini who hasn't suffered a sprained wrist, and many of your sign have even endured broken arms somewhere along the way.

Probably the most serious ailment for you involves the lungs. You shouldn't smoke, and if you do, you should be making every effort to quit. If you don't smoke, you should not allow smoking in your presence or in your home. Unfortunately, however, you probably DO smoke, a habit picked up early since you found it reduced tension and gave you something to do with those ever-moving hands.

Some good Gemini health habits:

- Seek out all the tension reducers you can work into your schedule, and this can range from sports like sailing or tennis to some original hobby or pastime. Convince yourself that you DESERVE an outlet.

- Make time for yourself. Few Geminis realize that solitude can aid tremendously in refueling their energies.

- Cultivate an energy-booster program all your own. Find a special herb or breakfast drink that makes you feel specially energetic. Your doctor or your local health food store can lead you to something suitable.

A good Gemini herb-tonic: Siberian ginseng, available at most health food outlets.

- Read. (You do anyway.) Keep a good book with you in the car, for example, so you will not go whacky during traffic jams or waiting at railroad crossings.

- Avoid eating too fast. This is a chronic Gemini habit that leads to all sorts of problems.

- Find a fast-moving sport and make it your own. Some good ideas: badminton, tennis, jogging — anything that keeps you moving constantly.

- Your best doctor: Scorpio.

GEMINI HOPES WISHES AND GOALS

Geminis usually harbor a bundle of ideas, plans for the future, things they want to do. And, oddly enough for a sign that doesn't especially cotton to leadership, you have secret hopes that deal with yourself in a leadership position.

Many of you see yourselves as social leaders, dynamic influences on small groups of people. Other Geminis see themselves as leaders of thought, brilliant communicators on the issues of the day, mesmerizing legions with their ideas and written words.

A Gemini's goals in astrology can be better understood in terms of your time of birth. Though an astrological chart is more complicated than the scope of this book permits, the following is a general idea of how your hopes and wishes shape up in terms of the time of your birth.

Birth times are, necessarily, approximate.

If you were born between 4 and 6 AM, you are double Gemini, immensely communicative, highly charming and scattered in a minimum of 6 different directions. Best friend: Aries.

If born between 2 and 4 AM, there is a need for security in your nature greater than the average Gemini. You are also more money conscious. Power is not necessarily a goal, since you do not work as fast or move as quick as some of your fellow Geminis, but status definitely is a strong need. You want to be looked up to as someone to be recognized, and you look to your financial worth as a measure of this. Listen to Pisceans.

If born between midnight and 2 AM, you are fiercely aggressive, and very inclined to agree that the "pen is mightier than the sword." This is an excellent position for a writer, particularly a political writer who wishes to influence others by the written word. Another goal with this position is travel. Aquarians can be helpful to you in achieving your goals.

If born between 10 PM and midnight, there is a strong intuitive note in your astrological make-up. You're more retiring than most Geminis and look to your own back yard for what you feel you need most out of life. Being a leader within your own family circle or your immediate community is important to you. This comes from a strong example probably set by a parent. You relate well to Capricorns.

If born between 8 PM and 10 PM, you want to achieve great things in the creative field, and indeed possess much of the originality necessary for it. You're frequently regarded as eccentric, but always regarded as brilliant. You are also pushy as a parent and seek many of the things you want out of life through a child. Saggitarians can be very influential on your behalf.

If born between 6 PM and 8 PM, some career success is probably one of your major goals. You're very hard working and very serious. You may also find that you achieve much in a managerial position, since subordinates are unusually responsive to you and want you to do well. Scorpios make very good associates.

If born between 4 PM and 6 PM, marriage and partnership is the most important goal in your life, and your hopes generally center around it. You are no doubt constantly serving as a source of strength to your partner. Hopefully both of you will find a Libra to further your ambitions.

If born between 2 PM and 4 PM, discovering and uncovering hidden meanings is immensely important in your life hopes and it's probable that you deal in an occupation that requires it. You approach everything with careful scrutiny, and very little escapes your uncanny intuition. You're very spiritually-oriented for a Gemini, and things of a higher nature have special appeal to you. You will find many Virgos understand you better than other signs.

If born between Noon and 2 PM, you are a fierce advocate for justice of all kinds. This is a subconscious goal of your own, but you extend it to others. You want to be thought of as an important leader of the downtrodden, even though you sometimes see yourself as the most downtrodden of all. This is a good position for a lawyer. Get assistance from a Leo.

If born between 10 AM and Noon, you are not happy with obscurity. You don't just aspire to be the Manager, you want to be the Supreme Boss. You will always be aided by authority figures and important people. With luck, one of them is a Cancer.

If born between 8 AM and 10 AM, you want to be seen as a leader of some particular group. People with this position usually dominate PTA's, Junior Leagues and other such groups. Being accepted by people worth being accepted by is very important to you. You no doubt are accepted in this sense, since you have a knack for realizing what you want. Another Gemini can be useful to you.

If born between 6 AM and 8 AM, your heart whispers home. You want security, peace, comfort. You are one of the more gentle Geminis, and you probably married early in life. Many people are capable of getting what they want out of life because of you. You lean on spouse and family, and you will find Taureans are eager to help you get what you want out of life.

THE GEMINI SUBCONSCIOUS

With all the talk about Gemini's search for the carefree existence, the Gemini flightiness, the "butterfly of the zodiac" labels, it may seem odd to others that there is a strong need for security in you.

Subconsciously, you desire a framework in which to cavort, to play, to learn, to explore. But, unlike the Chagall painting, floating airily may seem to be you but it isn't.

This is one of the stronger keynotes in your make-up: the security to be able to do all the things you want to do. It can only be described as a very long leash that you know is there, that would pull you to safety when danger threatened, but would let you roam until it did.

Some of you seek security in money, and some of you seek it in someone else. Many Geminis, however, learn this isn't enough, since you rarely take either money or other people that seriously.

The security, of course, that you really seek is the type that comes from within you, that gives you the ability to genuinely laugh at troubles rather than whistle in the dark. It has a great deal to do with self-confidence, and a great deal to do with "trusting thyself" as fellow Gemini Ralph Waldo Emerson once wrote.

Once you have achieved it, of course, you are one of the most perfect creatures under the sun: you're a Gemini who has controlled both sides of your exciting dual natures, and molded them into one unsinkable strength.

INTRODUCTION

Millions of years ago, when the earth first took formation, it must have been a Cancerian who taught the world what love and feeling and emotion were all about.

At the very least, it was a member of your sign that impressed upon the primitive instinct that there were more important things worth living for besides food and war.

For that understanding, for your charming sentiment and your fine instincts, there are a lot of people who'd come back as a Cancer if they had to do it all over again.

As a Cancer, you combine a little bit of the best of each sign: Scorpio's instincts without Scorpio's ruthlessness; Aries' cardinal qualities without Aries' imposing ways; Libra's understanding without Libra's indecisiveness. The list could go on.

Though Cancer has the reputation for being the homebody of the zodiac, there's much more to you than that. In you is the courage of a Helen Keller, who overcame major handicaps to give all of us the example of a remarkable life; the wit of a Merv Griffin; the lyrical sensitivity of an Oscar Hammerstein.

There are three decanates to the Cancer Sun Sign, and each provides a finer shading to the composite of your sign.

Cancers born June 21 to July 21 are the most emotional and probably the best leaders; you have beautiful instincts, though a certain inferiority complex that most people can't sense. Cancers born July 2 to July 12 can be terribly mysterious with a great deal of perception. Born July 13 to July 21 you're a creative dreamer, with just a touch of sheer Moon frivolity to make you interesting.

Your best trait as a Cancer is your sensitivity to the needs of others. Your biggest fault is a self-centeredness that can make you appear shy and aloof to others.

The Cancer keynote is "I feel", and — if you'll notice — that's the way you probably start most of your conversations.

FAMOUS CANCER PERSONALITIES

Nelson Rockefeller	Ernest Hemingway
John Glenn	Ringo Starr
Merv Griffin	Julius Caesar
Julie Nixon Eisenhower	Lucie Johnson Nugent
Van Cliburn	Louis Armstrong
Paul Anka	Marc Chagall
Helen Keller	John Paul Jones
Jack Dempsey	Barbara Stanwyck
Calvin Coolidge	John Quincy Adams
Rembrandt	Stephen Foster
Richard Rodgers	Oscar Hammerstein
Henry Thoreau	George M. Cohan

CITIES INCORPORATED UNDER THE SIGN OF CANCER

Orlando, Florida	Santa Fe, New Mexico
Oklahoma City, Oklahoma	Richmond, Virginia
Wichita Falls, Texas	New York City, New York

CANCER ROMANCE

You are particularly interested in your romantic life because you tend to define yourself in terms of other people. Who loves you and loves-you-not has an important bearing on your security, whether married or single.

You are — next to Scorpio — one of the most likely signs to engage in clandestine or unusual love affairs. It is likely that at least once during your life there has been a romantic relationship which — for some reason — you had to keep secret from family and friends.

You can be selfish in romantic matters, but this is due mainly to the fact that you give a great deal in your affairs. It's an all-or-nothing-at-all intensity for you. But even with that, your recuperative powers from a broken romance are better than most signs, surprising because of your emotional vulnerability.

You're possessive with your romantic attachments, and very easily prone to jealousy, however, scheming isn't a part of your nature. You will carry on in spite of the competition, hoping usually that what you have to offer an attachment is more than what someone else is offering. Even so, it threatens your security which — as I just mentioned — is enormously tied up with other people's affection for you.

YOUR COMPATIBILITY WITH OTHER SIGNS:

With another Cancer: This is a better match than other signs "of the same sign." The sensitivity and understanding here is mutual and strong.

Leo: Another good match, because Leo loves to love and Cancer loves to receive it.

Virgo: Cancer is probably one of the best signs for Virgo, since you can exert a soothing influence on Virgo's occasionally high-strung ways. A Cancer in love doesn't mind a Virgo's pursuit of perfection. The relationship can, however, often result in a brother-sister feeling.

Libra: Not-so-hot. Librans have a way of making Cancers feel inadequate, and Cancers usually find themselves peculiarly suppressed under the Libran influence.

Scorpio: Scorpio and Cancer are both water signs, and thus basically compatible. Scorpio's highly passionate nature and Cancer's eager reception to it are one of the bases of this match. All other factors in the horoscope would have to be equal with this combination.

Sagittarius: This can be an antagonistic match. Sagittarius always seems to want to pick on Cancer, and Cancer can be enormously puzzled in the relationship. But once ground rules are established, an interesting relationship can usually result.

Capricorn: Capricorn is Cancer's opposite sign, so this relationship is either heaven or hell. Capricorns have a shielding influence, with many Cancers readily responding to it. On the other hand, Capricorns are concentrative, while Cancers tend to want to be all things to all people.

Aquarius: The Aquarian need to be adored by all often conflicts with the Cancer need to be cherished by one. There's apt to be much jealousy in the romance unless Cancer can accept a subservient role to Aquarius.

Pisces: Pisces is the third of the zodiac water signs and is basically compatible with Cancer. Cancer usually understands Pisces' unexplainable ways, which helps.

Aries: Aries intimidates Cancer but often winds up highly respectful of the Crab. If intimidation and respect are what you're after, this is obviously the ticket.

Taurus: This is probably one of the better matches for Cancer. Both of you are driven by a need for security, and Cancer responds well to Taurus' stable ways. Taurus usually starts out as a good friend to a Cancer.

Gemini: Gemini gets impatient with Cancer, and usually isn't very nice about saying so. Also, Cancer can sometimes strike a Gemini as too clinging and confining. A Cancer can teach a Gemini a great deal about feeling, but Gemini's basically cold ways may not wish to learn.

CANCER MARRIAGE AND FAMILY RELATIONSHIPS

You get your powerful instincts, your inner strength from your roots. For you, there is never real happiness until there is a home you consider yours in addition to the home you grew up in yourself. Both are equal forces in your life.

Far from being the holdback that family means to some signs (your Gemini counterpart might huff that "he travels fastest who travels alone") you have to have four walls, loved ones, something good coming from the stove, music coming from anywhere, and hopefully a very real fire burning in a very real fireplace.

in your family relationship you must possess and be possessed. This is all-important to the Moon-ruled Cancer. Your ideal mate is strong, secure, fun-loving, but takes the marriage relationship as seriously as you do.

After marriage, a Cancer is affected more by the spouse's attitude than any other sign, so it's always wise to understand your mate's sign as well as your own to fully comprehend family attitudes.

Living with you can be both a joy and a trial. You're not especially stubborn (unless there's a strong Taurus influence in your chart), and your way of handling most problems is by ignoring them. You can become passive in the face of trauma, unless the problem affects your children.

Relationships with children:

And regarding children, you're the most successful of all. It's rare to find a Cancer not esteemed by his or her offspring. This is primarily because you LOVE being a parent. You might sometimes be smothering in your affection, but the worst thing that's ever been said about the children of a Cancer is that they were "loved too much." And to a Cancer, that's not possible.

In your relationships with children, you're happiest with another water-sign, particularly a Scorpio. Naturally, another Cancer or a Pisces would be a joy to raise. Your influence on these children would be powerful. Your fire sign children — Leo, Aries and Sagittarius — would secretly confuse you. An Aries could be highly rebellious, a Sagittarius extremely subservient and you would find yourself uncommonly possessive of a Leo, much to the detriment of the Leo! You'd fare better with earth-sign children. Taurus children have a "best friend" way with Cancer parents. Capricorns could teach you a great deal, and Virgos would constantly see you as someone to teach them.

Your home location:

All Cancers seem most content with corner homes or corner apartments. (Think of the other Cancers you know — don't most of them have a corner dwelling?) Unlike other signs, you're not a slave to an interior decorator (you wouldn't dream of having anyone else's influence in your house). The kitchen will probably be the most well-equipped in the neighborhood, because you love to cook and you spend a lot of your time doing it. North and north corner rooms will also have good vibrations for you.

CANCER FINANCES

You are possessive about money. That doesn't mean that you keep it or save it — it just means that you can be fairly ornery about how it's spent.

Your favorite indulgence, naturally, is your home. Only the best woods for your furniture. Maybe another $2000 for an expensive fireplace. Or — for some Cancerians — the luxury of an indoor garden or some small courtyard with pond. Other Cancer types insist on having beautiful lawns and grounds and not worry that much about what's actually inside.

But all Cancers have a fixation about their home when it comes to spending money. That's why you do not mind spending that much for a house to begin with. It's your shell. It's your soul.

When you want to save, however, you can. And probably better than the other signs. Cancers will worry about money and become plagued with doubts, particularly when you ignore your finely-tuned instincts.

You spend emotionally. You're an easy touch for a hand-out, particularly if you think there are children involved who may be suffering. (The idea of a child going hungry would send you into depression for a long time.)

This is why Cancers need financial advice or someone to watch their spending. Since you've been known to go on buying sprees when you're depressed, you can always use someone else's watchful eye.

Cancers spend a great deal of money to impress others, and never ask themselves whether they even like the people they want to impress. A Cancer feels cheated and angry if someone else has something he or she doesn't have.

Best time for spending: July 21 to August 21

Best financial advisor: Leo

Best investments: Government bonds (the U.S.A. as a country is a Cancer!); housing; dairy and fishery products; anything relating to water — your element.

Biggest financial weakness: Using needed funds for frivolities.

Gambling tips: Some good teams to follow for light, unimportant bets are those incorporated under the sign of Cancer: the Boston Red Sox, Detroit Lions and Pittsburgh Steelers

Cancer corporations: United Aircraft was incorporated under the sign of Cancer

Profitable hobby: Genealogy (the study of family trees — and nobody is more interested than a Cancer in ancestry!)

CANCER CAREER AND WORK

Though there have been numerous Cancers throughout history who have made their mark in the career field (from Julius Caesar, a Cancer, right on up to modern day), the occupation and vocational world is not your prime concern.

Like the Duke of Windsor, born under the sign of Cancer, who would rather have been married to Wallis

Simpson than to have been King of England, your main interest will always be your private life, and if your career interferes with this, you'll sacrifice there rather than at home.

The exception to this would be the Cancer with a disappointing home life: in that case you would make your job "home" and the people who work there "family."

Other than that, the 40-hour-a-week syndrome bothers most Cancers. You frequently grumble that you spend more time with "strangers" at work than you do with the people you have chosen to live with.

Cancers are not the world's greatest when it comes to ambition, and if you do have it, you frequently suppress it, or simply don't act on it.

At work, one of your strengths is to see possibilities in menial tasks. As long as you can visualize the menial task in its stupendous final form, you're content to do it. If you see it as meaningless, however, you become bored and moody.

Which brings us to another Cancer characteristic on the job: your moods, which are relatively unpredictable.

You look for recognition in your work, and have probably been victimized in companies by bosses who were lavish on praise and short on money.

Cancers rarely set goals for themselves; career-wise, most of you don't find your real purpose until after your 30th birthday. When it does happen, though, you can direct your instincts and loving ways to a job, just the same as you do for your family. But never at the expense of your family or private life.

Typical Cancer occupations: Travel, fishing, fisheries; dairy occupations; medicine (obstetrics in particular); marriage counseling; day care centers; restaurant and hotel careers; apartment management; spas; boats; professional chefs; nursing; nutrition; utilities; politics; meteorology.

Cancers are also very good at any job that can be performed in the home. Most part-time workers in the world are usually Cancers.

Decanate Specifics: Cancers born June 21-June 30 are the best of the sign for working alone or for being their own boss; born July 1 -July 11 and you have greater determination than the average Cancer. Born July 12-July 21 and you'll find much gain in the service industries.

Best time for career success: July 21-August 21 for raises or getting more money on the job; Nov. 21-Dec. 21 for general success; March 21-April 21 for heady recognition or for accepting exciting new offers.

Best boss for a Cancer: Aries

Best subordinate: Sagittarius

Sign to watch out for: Gemini

Worst career mistake: Bringing personal problems to the job.

CANCER HEALTH

You do not have an especially strong constitution, but your biggest health problem is the fact that you worry so much about it. Though you don't necessarily have a host of psychosomatic diseases, you're constantly worrying that your body is deteriorating from one thing or another.

The sign Cancer rules the stomach, abdomen and breasts, so Cancer can be prone to digestive and gastric disturbances — which, incidentally, can sometimes be aggravated by eating under stress.

As a rule, you don't have much energy and you need sleep badly; many Cancers will admit that unless they have between 10 and 12 hours of sleep, they can't function.

Like your Taurean friends, you can get into health trouble by overeating. (Remember Henry VIM? He was a Cancer.) Excess weight can be especially bad for Cancers, since it brings heart problems into play.

Cancers are also inclined to strong sugar-cravings, which may aggravate more latent problems.

Cancers need to see dentists every 6 months, but this isn't likely since most of your sign suffers from dontaphobia or terror of dentists.

It doesn't seem like it's necessary to say, but I'll say it anyway: any relationship to a Cancer's health and the disease of cancer is totally unrelated, and a Cancer is no more prone to cancer than any other sign.

Some good Cancer health habits:

- Cleanliness and hygiene are extremely important to your sign.

- Comfortable surroundings, immediate environments, can also have a direct bearing on the Cancer well-being and on the general health.

- Good meal habits are important for you. Make your meals studied affairs; demand the best for yourself, for example, when you go into a restaurant. (Do not allow yourself to be seated in sections near the clanging of the kitchen.)

- Concentrate on eating fish, if it's OK with your doctor. Cancer rules shellfish, and a Cancer who doesn't include a lot of fish in his or her diet is missing a health benefit.

- Other foods ruled by the sign of Cancer: Cucumbers, turnips, cabbage and — of course — milk.

- Your best doctor: Sagittarius

- Your best exercise: Swimming and water-skiing.

CANCER GOALS, HOPES AND WISHES

Possibly all this talk about Cancer's docile ways and retiring sentiment have made you wonder if there's any ego in your make-up at all. There is, and plenty of it.

Your goals and hopes are all centered around a need for ego-satisfaction that has to do with being the center of attention. You're the type who sees the limelight, quietly walks into it, and then grasps it securely. It may take you longer to get there, but you stay longer once you have it.

The limelight to you, of course, doesn't have to be Carnegie Hall (though that would be nice). It can be the adulation of crowds or simply the adulation of children and spouse. It can be sitting in a Board meeting with dozens of faces turned to you for counsel, or sitting in a day nursery with dozens of children waiting to see what you are going to do next.

But it has to be people. You must have their force to re-kindle your own.

The methods you employ to reach your goals can be better understood by knowing the time of your birth. This doesn't give a total astrological picture, but it can offer some valuable guidelines.

If born between 4 AM and 6 AM, you're a double Cancer, and will find that people gravitate to you for your interesting ways. You must use your personality to help you find your goals, which could be in a more public sphere than you've always imagined. Look to a Taurus to assist you.

If born between 2 AM and 4 AM, you can find the limelight through your imagination and creativity. You're a bit flashier than the typical Cancer, and you have good literary talent. You express yourself well. You're apt to have good financial luck in pursuing your goals. An Aries friend can be valuable.

If born between Midnight and 2 AM, you have a quality of determination to assist you in pursuing your wishes. You also have an excellent mind, and good relationships with all of the people you come in contact with. Pay special attention to the Pisceans.

If born between Midnight and 10 PM, you have strong family ties and a wish to satisfy all of the authority figures in your life, which can range from mothers and fathers to dominating spouses and bosses. The conflict here is in your basic restlessness. You have probably lived in many different residences. Consider an Aquarius a good-luck charm.

If born between 8 PM and 10 PM, you have a fine creativity which has probably already brought you the recognition you desire. Many of your friends are probably arty types and you seek recognition from them, even though you're probably much more talented. This is a "parent of kings" position, incidentally; it indicates that you will probably produce a famous child. Listen to Capricorn friends.

If born between 6 PM and 8 PM, you will receive recognition through your service to others. You have strong humanitarian instincts, and you have probably found great satisfaction in working in service or volunteer environments. You should expand this, too, to put your love for animals into focus. Sagittarians can provide good direction.

If born between 4 PM and 6 PM, your strength as an asset to your spouse is all important to you. This probably will not completely satisfy you, however, since you have a hard-working approach. It's likely that you can channel this in business or politics, but it will emanate from some connection with a partner. Best friend: Scorpio.

If born between 2 PM and 4 PM, you are more interested in people's souls than in their minds, and you have probably found that others dump their problems on you in a steady fashion, expecting you to give advice. You do not mind this and it sharpens your wits. Libra can be an asset to you.

If born between Noon and 2 PM, you have good educational powers and an excellent investigative sense. You can see right through people which enhances your reputation as an honest person. Listen to Virgos.

If born between 10 AM and Noon, you probably have found prominence and recognition for even your minor endeavors. You have always wanted to be "in charge" of something since childhood, though you lack a certain "quick decision" technique because of a Libra influence in your chart. You can still overwhelm people, so they may not even notice. Leos are apt to champion your causes.

If born between 8 AM to 10 AM, you may tend to get too influenced by group decisions because of a desire for peer approval that's stronger than normal. You could fall into a "mascot" position unless you make use of fine Virgo analytical quality in your horoscope. Other Cancers are apt to take you under their wing.

If born between 6 AM and 8 AM, you have a strong sense of drama and a strong need for solitude and it's wise to balance the two needs. This gives leadership, but more of a "power behind the throne" than the actual throne itself. A Gemini can help you get what you want out of life.

THE CANCER SUBCONSCIOUS

As a Cancer, it isn't easy for you to separate logic from emotions. What someone feels, for you, is what someone thinks. You're a wax tablet, absorbing each impression, feeling instantly what others may be only thinking of expressing. No sign can read between the lines better than Cancer.

With all of the many individuals and many impressions in your life, your soul would be total confusion if it weren't for your subconscious drive for permanency.

This is why you cling to the past so much. It's why you cannot throw away possessions because they evoke good memories of other times, and cement your feelings of security.

It's why you're possessive of that home-and-hearth feeling. It's the memories they mean, the feelings they bring. It's what life is all about to you: spouse, children, your own parents, brothers, sisters, relatives.

You take comfort in what you know will be there always. And within that framework, you'll tolerate and absorb change.

The irony for Cancer, of course, is that others find their own security in what you see as your frail soul. They see a strength there that can only come from a water sign with the gentility of Pisces and the instincts of Scorpio, and a peculiar serenity that is yours alone.

The security others place in you is, indeed, permanent.

LEO

July 21 to August 22

SYMBOL: THE LION

RULER: THE SUN

INTRODUCTION

Here's to the Leos. To the drama and the spirit that you bring to an otherwise dull world. To your total appreciation for life and love and humor and all the things the rest of us thought only existed in books until one fine day some Leo took us by the hand to prove otherwise.

You're the sign of royalty . . . and not so much because you see yourself as a monarch as because you understand drama and self-respect. Ruled by the Sun, Leos are people who simply do not know the meaning of the word fear. Like the lion itself, you're courageous.

Naturally, that courage gets mistaken for a lot of other things. Like arrogance. And pride. And a very strong will! You don't like to be crossed in any matter and it's a rare Lion who sees the other fellow's point of view (unless you have a strong Libran influence in your chart). Consequently, you sometimes get the reputation for being a bit one-sided.

But it's easily forgiven. No matter what you do, no matter who you cross, absolutely nobody can match you in sheer entertainment value.

To better understand the Leo pattern in your horoscope, you should understand a little bit about the decanate in which you were born.

Leos born July 21 to July 31 have the core of the Leo personality, and most descriptions of the Sun Sign fit you better than they would other decanates of the sign. You're the most dramatic, the most loyal, and the most talked-about!

Born August 1 to August 11 makes you more talkative, and the natural Leo abundance usually manifests in much conversation. Though not quite as outgoing as the typical Leo, you are more altruistic.

Born August 12 to August 22, you are much more personally aggressive than other Leos. You have a strong need to be first, and to lead, coupled with your Leo desire for the spotlight. Those born August 20-22 have a slight Virgo influence which would increase analytical abilities, make you more perceptive than the average Leo.

LEO ROMANCE

Is there anybody who doesn't or hasn't loved a Leo?

You're the most lovable sign around, and if it may infuriate some that you need the adulation of many, it's something they'll have to learn to accept. You know you're worth it, and — in the end — most of your romantic attachments will agree.

Romantic approval is very important to you. You're very vulnerable to anyone who appeals to your vanity, and you do not take to critical attachments. (Some signs do — but not you. If someone plays hard-to-get, you're puzzled, then angry.)

In romantic matters, you usually prefer someone who will enhance your prestige, though not necessarily financial prestige. Your romantic attachments are, in some ways, fodder for your ego. You may be seen with some people that others would consider bad matches; but if the match knows just the right thing to say, you eventually find such a person irresistible. Leo women have been known to adore perfect trolls; Leo men have made fools of themselves over even scragglier types.

YOUR COMPATIBILITY WITH OTHER SIGNS:

With another Leo: This could be difficult. If both of you are shallow Leo types, your individual vanities will often clash. At best, you'll get along as well as two bars of gold in Fort Knox.

Virgo: This is a good business partnership match, but not so hot emotionally. Virgos are not apt to cater to the Leo ego, and generally put Leo in a subservient position.

Libra: This is a good match. Libras are gentle sorts and readily receptive to Leo's very warm capacity for love.

Scorpio: This could present problems. There can be too many conflicts in the basic approach to love and sex. Scorpio gets impatient with Leo's material attitudes and need for extravagances. Physically, however, this relationship can be worth whatever strains both parties have to put up with.

Sagittarius: Sagittarius is a fire sign, as is Leo. The match is usually a good one, if Leo can get a word in edgewise.

Capricorn: Capricorns have marvelous witty ways about them, which will attract Leo, but can be very despondent at times, which depresses Leo. Leo's need for flourishes and drum rolls could jar Capricorn's basically streamlined attitudes.

Aquarius: These are opposite signs, so anything can happen. Both signs share a common bond of love for all things. Leo, however, sometimes expects to be exalted for it in one way or another. Aquarius can be a very rational sign for all of the Aquarian chatter about humanitarianism and love of mankind.

Pisces: Pisces' passive ways can either enchant or aggravate Leo. Usually Pisces will be very appreciative of Leo, and Leo can be flattered with that sort of thing.

Aries: Aries is another fire sign and a good match basically for Leo. But these are both strong-willed signs. Aries wants to be first. Leo wants to be thought of as first. Aries will occasionally take a backseat in an emotional relationship and Leo, being the gambler, is apt to bet that an Aries will. There's usually a great deal of game-playing in this match; if the intense physical involvement that the two signs are capable of does occur, you can bet that whoever plays defense will jolly-well play defense rather than not play at all.

Taurus: This is not a good match, but many Taurus and Leo types find each other magnetically attractive anyway. Taurus gravitates to the Leo dazzle. Leo, in turn, respects Taurus. Leo usually suffers the most in this relationship, since Taurus wishes total dominance. Taureans are usually greedy in this relationship, and they know how to hurt Leo.

Gemini: An excellent match. Gemini's quick wit, wonderful way with words, will fascinate Leo. Gemini, however, can grow weary of Leo's desire for attention all the time. Geminis don't pay attention to anything for very long.

Cancer: This is a fairly good match for Leo. Cancer needs the Leo warmth and love. The only problem is that Cancer will be impatient to marry, which may not suit Leo at the time.

LEO MARRIAGE AND FAMILY RELATIONSHIPS

Once you have committed yourself to a family and spouse, it takes a great deal of stress before you would stray. You have a tendency to honor not so much the person as the marriage commitment itself. You place a great deal of stock and respect in the institution of marriage and in the sacredness of the family unit.

You see yourself as the guiding light in a family situation, and many times you actually are. If the family doesn't show you the same respect that you have for them, you can assert yourself with more force than any other sign in the zodiac. After all, you are Leo, lord of all you survey — or procreate.

Your spouse can be restless and unpredictable, but you always expect the best, since Leos can be almost naive in their trust of their mates. You tend to marry "above your station", though that doesn't necessarily mean money. The old saying that you admire and love in others what you feel you lack in yourself is very true of Leo. Leos usually have mates with a particular trait they don't feel they possess themselves.

And there is a certain breed of Leo who marries someone so inferior that nobody can understand the reasoning. The reasoning of course is simple. The Lion has stated a preference. Sometimes the contrast itself with a mate who is totally unequal makes for a more regal lion.

You do not like seeing your children get more attention from your spouse than you do, and you'll come to resent them if they do. But other than that, you are fiercely protective of your cubs.

Relationships with children:

Few Leos have large families. You're one of the most candid signs about admitting that you don't even like children. A Leo can be loved by so many people, that the need to be loved (which can sometimes inspire other signs to reproduce) isn't as strong with you.

If you do have a family, however, you're a loving parent. Your children sometimes strain under your fierce demands, and grow weary of your lectures. But Leo parents always command the highest respect from their children, particularly as they grow older. Your problem in rearing children is that you sometimes see them as egoistical extensions of yourself, and this can sometimes create demands that shouldn't exist. You tend to dominate them, shaping their lives with an infinitesimal amount of care.

Your favorite child would be a Sagittarius, with Aries and other Leo offspring running close seconds. You relate well to these signs since they are fire signs just like you.

You find air-sign children — Aquarius, Libra, in particular — as somewhat disturbing to you and difficult to understand. Gemini — another air sign — has a restless urge that bothers your fixed way of looking at things.

With earth signs, you relate well to Capricorns because they are obedient, and seem grateful for what you do for them. Taurus children try to manipulate you which can cause problems. You can be overly-protective of Virgo children.

Leos fit well into the family/marriage syndrome because you can't live for yourself. Even if you don't marry, you may find yourself embracing at least a circle of friends or an immediate family, such as a parent or sisters and brothers.

You take the family IDEA very seriously — provided that you take it at all.

LEO FINANCES

Money symbolizes prestige to you. You do not really like money for its own sake — it's not likely, for example, that you're much of a saver — but more for all of the glorious things it can buy. You spend lavishly on things that will impress — furnishings, clothes, cars — even if it sometimes means eating spam every day for a year. (After all, who sees food once it's digested?)

With all respect, when you spend on your luxuries, you're a trend-setter. (Think of Jackie Onassis, a Leo, and all the styles she's set!)

Leos like to include wealthy people among their friends. Though you're one of the most loving of signs, you feel that having influential friends can ultimately give you a financial advantage of some sorts, and you aren't inclined to miss it.

You're very opinionated regarding finances. Few people can tell you what to do, where to spend, how to spend, or NOT to spend. In investments, you're a broker's nightmare because you simply don't want to listen once your mind is made up — regardless of what scanty information you may have based your opinion on.

When it comes to gambling, Leo shines. Not that you win all the time — far from it — but you're never afraid to try. This isn't just literal casino-type gambling; you're prone to gambler stocks, prone to gamble on risky merchandise. You clearly enjoy the art of speculation.

If you were born between 2 PM and 4 PM, your own warm tendencies can regenerate others even though you tend to be a slave-driver when you are not careful. Much of your success will come financed through someone else. You should concentrate on promoting and developing talent in others. Scorpio can be of enormous advantage to you.

If you were born between 12 PM and 2 PM, you have a magnetic personality and great power, and are considered a teacher even if you aren't in that capacity professionally. You are at home on many different continents, and you may find that your Camelot is in going from place to place. Lean on a Libra.

If you were born between 10 AM and Noon, there is a leadership strain in your chart. It wouldn't be wise to ignore this, even though you do not especially like responsibility. Talk to a Virgo for direction.

If you were born between 8 AM and 10 AM, you can make great contributions to social groups and you have excellent judgment. You may find that working with others to achieve a common goal gives you great satisfaction. You will find a Leo individual very anxious to assist you.

If you were born between 6 AM and 8 AM, you are highly introspective, and may spend much more time dreaming than actually doing. Achieving perfection in character is important to you, and it never occurs to you that it may not be possible. You need to take more concrete action than you do. Find a Cancer to advise you.

Best Leo investments: Any stock dealing in entertainment activities is good for Leo to consider, since your sign rules the theatre. Recreation areas or parks are another decent investment. Anything that produces a finery product — such as jewelry manufacturers or ornamentation makers — are all going to attract the Leo dollar. You would also do well to invest in diamonds and precious stones, as well as in any company that promotes solar energy.

Best time for spending: August 21 -Sept. 21

Best financial advisor: Virgo

Biggest financial weakness: Friends who consider you an "easy touch."

Gambling tips: You love to gamble, and if you're going to make a few friendly wagers it's probably on a few Leo teams: like the New York Jets and the Cleveland Browns.

Leo Corporations: Standard Oil is a corporate "Leo."

Profitable hobby: Those social clubs you join so readily.

LEO CAREER AND WORK

No matter what position you find yourself in, you consider yourself worth a leadership spot. Leos are blessed with an innate ability to understand administrative problems, and most of you "think" executive even if you aren't. A Leo secretary realizes that she controls the company, even if her boss' signature is actually required to execute the order. A Leo salesman acts like the director of sales even if he isn't.

As a Leo, you can see the broad picture of an enterprise, which is one of the reasons why you rise so quickly in an organization. While your Virgo counterparts are exacting their pound of flesh and your Gemini friends are charming everybody in sight, and your dutiful Pisceans are doing what they're told, Leos look at the over-all scheme. No matter how menial your task, you know how to relate it to other tasks. You no doubt impress your superiors as knowing your job; actually you know your own and you understand theirs. So, naturally, as openings occur at the top, you seem natural to move up.

Your outgoing ways do not hurt either. Leos are the most sociable people around — GENUINELY sociable — so everybody likes you, or at least nearly everybody. No doubt your need to be center stage and your strong pride can sometimes alienate you.

Once you're in the executive suite, or in a position of any kind of authority, you are usually very good at hiring people who can help you. You don't delegate authority well (Leos can't let go of power!), however, which means you might find yourself badly over-worked and your solar strength scattered.

Another Leo error is in a refusal to admit mistakes; Leos occasionally err (sorry, it's true), but you'll spend three years making excuses rather than five seconds saying it was your fault.

Typical Leo occupations: Banking, administrative positions, presidential positions; occupations involving children; medicine (heart specialists); entertainment and recreational directors; farmers; theatre owners and managers; anything dealing with gold.

Decanate specifics: Born July 21 -July 31, you must guard against excessive pride in your career. You sometimes mistake criticism for ridicule, and will buck all odds if you think you're right. This is fine provided you're also good at your job. There are a lot of heroes in the unemployment line. Born August 1-August 11, you're more friendly and sociable than the average, which means that you can sometimes rise to glory on the basis of your ability to get along well with others. This should steer you toward an administrative position in a public relations capacity. You do not, however, like to be burdened with excessive responsibility. Born August 12 to August 22, you have the more independent streak of Leo. You're usually impulsive in decision making, but fortunately you're so talented that people tend to ignore the mistakes you make by quick decisions.

Best career times: August 21-Sept. 21 for raises or additional money; Dec. 21-Jan. 21 for career success in general; April 21-May 21 for career advancement.

Best boss: If you have to have one, try Taurus.

Best subordinate: Capricorn

Sign to watch out for: Cancer

Worst career mistake: Arrogance

LEO HEALTH

Your sign rules the heart, spine and back, and these areas are especially vulnerable to a Leo.

The heart in particular is a Leo concern; many Leos are subject to heart problems if not actual attacks, such as viral attacks on heart linings and diseases of that nature. The Leo heart vulnerability is due primarily to your tendency to work too hard and over-extend yourself.

Leos need to be careful with excessive food and drink, and all Leos should not just "go on a diet" — technically, you shouldn't ever get off one! "Too much of a good thing" is a frequent problem with Leos, particularly those born in early August.

Some good Leo health habits:

- All Leos should stop and examine their work habits. Driven, ambitious, with a need to lead, you are the most prone of your sign to become workaholics. You can be apt to ignore your health if this is the case.

- Take advantage of all the good foods ruled by Leo: sunflower seeds, almonds, all citrus fruits, olives (they even taste good out of a martini!), walnuts — just to mention a few.

- Examine your cholesterol intake. Hardening of the arteries, and other problems resulting from an excess of cholesterol are common problems with Leo.

- Invest in a good sunlamp unless you live in atropical area anyway. The sun is your ruler, and helps increase your vitality. Take your ultra-violet rays wherever you can find them.

- Don't underestimate your need for oxygen. Try going without a cigarette for an hour, if you can't do it for a day.

- Make a special orange/lemon drink as an antidote to flu. Remember — citrus is your best friend! Combine the juice of six fresh lemons, pour over a glass of ice, add two scoops of sugar or sugar substitute, and fill with fresh orange juice.

- Your best doctor: Capricorn

- Your best exercise: jogging — and calmer pastimes, like fishing, or meditation — in the sunshine.

LEO GOALS HOPES AND WISHES

your basic goal is Utopia. That's it. Only paradise. Everything in your life has a way of gravitating toward that one aim. The perfect home; the perfect family; all swathed in the best luxury imaginable. The perennial castle, with you — the sign of royalty — reigning supreme.

Now admit it. Why else do you aspire to the highest-paying job? Why else do you envision the spouse most suitable for your domain? Why else do you either desperately want children or absolutely not want any part of them?

Leo's basic hope is that Camelot is out there somewhere. And occasionally, when you get that far-away, wistful look in your Leonian face, somebody else will understand and come forward to help you find it.

Other astrological ways of understanding your ambitions include the insight available by knowing the time of your birth. This doesn't present a complete picture — and the birth times here are necessarily approximate — but it does give you a certain amount of information.

If born between 4 AM and 6 AM, you are one of the most dramatic individuals on earth — the double Leo. It's obvious that your Camelot can be almost anywhere you care to look. You have a quality to you that sees goodness and wonder in nearly everything and everyone. It's a special trait, and it's why people love you as much as they do — particularly Gemini people, who can be very helpful to you.

If born between 2 AM and 4 AM, you emphasis should be on money-making. To possess, for you, is to achieve. You're exceptionally good at making money and possessing, if you don't succumb to a restless influence in your chart. Listen to Taurus individuals.

If born between Midnight and 2 AM, you can achieve great success through your communication talents. You are especially talented in championing lost causes. When your own causes seem lost, talk to an Aries friend.

If born between 10 PM and Midnight, stability and security are a great part of the Camelot that you seek. You aren't as apt to work as hard for them, however, and have a tendency to wait for things to come to you. Pisces people can be very helpful to you.

If born between 8 PM and 10 PM you probably already know that expression of your inborn creativity can become a Utopia in itself. You can make dreams come true — especially with the help of Aquarian individuals.

If born between 6 PM and 8 PM, you express yourself greatly through service to other people. You have an especially kind-hearted disposition, and your most likely fault is that you are too easily taken advantage of. Trust Capricorns.

If born between 4 PM and 6 PM, it's likely that your Utopia will be within someone else, most likely your spouse. It's equally likely that you will have several marriages before finding the paradise possible in the love of a good person. Sagittarius people can be good friends.

THE LEO SUBCONSCIOUS

Your most puzzling subconscious attitude is your extreme sensitivity, your need for approval.

Because of the strong Leo sociability, most people would be shocked to know that you're easily hurt, and that small hurts — like the legendary Lion's paw — can be the worst. Because of your sense of pride, you invite stings from people who feel you are so unbelievably full of yourself you'd never feel it. But you do.

And, probably the worst part of all, you have a difficult time saying that you're hurt. You feel that for one like yourself who gives so much, cruelty from somebody else is unwarranted.

Leos unfortunately also "look" for hurt. Like an ancient food tester trying to find the poison in the dinner, you can sometimes be too conscious of people's remarks, feeling many times that possibly they want to hurt you.

Some Leos do manage to overcome this. They are the ones who realize that they are — fortunately — not the only people in the world. They aren't — thank God — even the only Leo.

VIRGO

August 22 to September 21

QUALITY: Mutable

INTRODUCTION

Sharp intelligence, an eye for perfection, keen insight . . . those are the elements of your Virgo birthright. And if you somehow manage to get the reputation for being a bit uptight every now and then, it's perfectly understandable and certainly forgivable. Deep down, others know that if the world ever slips slightly off its axis, you can bet good money it will be a Virgo who notices first.

Naturally, you can carry it to extremes, friends bristle under the sting of your criticism (they do not realize you're just as hard on yourself as you are on them). What's worse, you are usually accurate. Virgos are famous for destroying sacred cows, for tearing down institutions, for honing in on the real problem in a crisis and pointing it out without regard for feelings.

What you aren't famous for — and really ought to cultivate — is building things back up. No matter how much you destroy, you rarely have anything constructive to take its place. Which is a shame, because the Virgo intelligence — properly used — is a highly creative thing; you're capable of finding solutions to problems, but you delight only in verbalizing the problem.

There is another element to all of this: when a Virgo pays a compliment, it's sincerely appreciated. No one, absolutely no one, would doubt the sincerity of a Virgo. When you say, "I like that," the world sits up and takes notice. It's going to be an unemotional judgment, and a tribute to the perfection of whatever the subject matter is.

Virgos have a reputation for being prissy and a bit Victorian, but nothing could be further from the truth. (Does Sophia Loren, a Virgo, really come across as Victorian?) This may have happened as a result of some famous Virgos in medieval times — like Elizabeth I of England who ruled England without a mate for nearly 50 years.

The truth of the matter is that the sensuality of a Virgo — which we'll discuss later — is legendary, and could make even a Scorpio blush.

Virgos can be understood also in the light of the decanate — or division — of the sign. If you were born August 22 to August 31, you're the communicator of the sign, perpetually young, always active and visible. If you were born September 1 to September 11 you're more conservative than other Virgos; you also have great mental discipline and finely-tuned senses. This particular decanate also seems to live the longest. If you were born September 12 to September 21 you are probably considered a person with above-average tastes. You wear the Virgo perfectionism with ease, and on you it becomes a beautiful sense of discriminating judgment particularly in the realm of the arts. You no doubt have a magnificently-furnished home, and you are somehow creatively-involved.

CITIES INCORPORATED UNDER THE SIGN OF VIRGO

Boston, Massachusetts      Manchester, New Hampshire
Colorado Springs, Colorado      Los Angeles, California

VIRGO ROMANCE

You are very choosy (discriminating, actually) about your romantic partner; if someone wins your attention, they ought to be honored, because you don't waste time with just anybody. You take romantic involvements seriously because only you know how intense your passions can be. And you wouldn't waste them casually for a moment!

Virgos are highly-sexed, though you pay a great deal of lip-service to what's conventionally correct. You never discuss sex or sexual conquests, and only intimates know what you're really like.

You do miss many romantic opportunities because you criticize them to death. You see flaws in people, and since you see a romantic commitment as terribly important, you're not apt to take up with somebody just for the fun of it unless there is a strong Leo or Gemini influence in your total horoscope.

You must have joint intellectual interests with your romantic attachments. You hate stupidity, and you don't know many stupid people — or want to, for that matter. Naturally your intellectual standards are the highest.

You must have honesty and truth in relationships; this goes along with your basic earthiness. Mawkish sentimentality leaves you cold; you don't like people who are "fawning". You find it irritating.

YOUR COMPATIBILITY WITH OTHER SIGNS:

Another Virgo: This will seem more like a friendship than a blazing romance, but results in great compatibility. There could be an intense physical relationships.

Libra: You see a Libra as a possession. Libras can tolerate your criticism and occasional high strung ways, but they do not like it.

Scorpio: This is an interesting match with good possibilities, but the Scorpio temperament can prove disastrous to a permanent relationship. There would have to be total trust, on your part, of a Scorpio.

Sagittarius: Not so hot romantically. Sagittarius refuses to take you seriously as a romantic attachment, but there's usually a good friendship.

Capricorn: Another earth sign and a good match if everything else in the horoscope is OK. Capricorns aren't as demanding as Virgos, however.

Aquarius: Aquarians' unconventional ways and need to flaunt tradition may sit badly with you. Otherwise this could be a good intellectual match.

Pisces: This is your opposite sign, and hence presents the possibility of a great affair or a total disaster. Pisceans have a sweetness to them and a good understanding, which normally meshes very well with Virgo.

Aries: Aries doesn't have much patience with Virgo, unless the Aries happens to have the Moon in Virgo which is another story entirely. Virgos can find lots of criticize about Aries.

Taurus: Probably the best match for Virgo. Taurus usually won't take Virgo's criticism too seriously, and can somehow understand your sensuality better than any other sign.

Gemini: Since you're both ruled by Mercury, this would make an excellent intellectual match provided there are no other chart afflictions. Basically, it's a cold relationship.

Cancer: Virgos who like to dominate will like Cancers, who enjoy being dominated. Cancer is sensitive and perceptive, however, so you better know what you're doing.

Leo: Leo has a hidden supersensitivity which can be hurt under Virgo's analytical eye. Virgos also have a way of making Leos feel inferior. You would, however, share a sense of grandeur, and the Virgo/Leo combination has been known to make some very long-lasting marriages.

VIRGO MARRIAGE AND FAMILY RELATIONSHIPS

You basically see any partnership — marriage or business — as a master/slave relationship. To make it a successful marriage, the Virgo almost always has to adapt to the role of the slave: and nine times out of ten you won't do it! A dominant Virgo in a relationship usually spells the end of it before its time.

Not that you won't try to hold on. You're fairly conventional, though most Virgos don't go into marriage lightly. You aren't given to live-in relationships; you respect the legality of marriage, and you always make it clear that marriage is what you want from a person you love. (A Virgo who is in a live-in relationship is only doing it because he or she expects things to be permanent soon. If marriage doesn't follow, the arrangement is pretty short-lived.)

You generally marry someone quiet, shy, and a little disorganized, who takes your critical attitude as some sort of fate he or she must learn to accept. Your mate is usually difficult to understand.

Relationships with children:

You frequently realize your ambitions through your children. Virgo is the typical "stage parent", always pushing the children to bigger and better things as soon as they're old enough to walk. You set goals for them early in life and run things with an iron hand; sometimes it works (Virgo patriarch Joseph P. Kennedy is an example of when it did) and sometimes it doesn't. Many times your children can rebel or — worse — wind up with no ambition at all. You're highly tenacious about your children, and regard them as permanent possessions. You tend to resent the people they marry.

Your best relationship would be with a Capricorn child. You also relate well to the other two earth signs, Taurus and, of course, Virgo. You find yourself frequently irritated with water-sign children: Scorpio, Pisces and Cancer can make more difficulties than others. Fire sign offspring like Leo, Sagittarius and Aries gain your admiration and respond well to your goading. As far as the air signs, you can get through to your Gemini children by sheer mental process; Aquarians tend to obey you more in early childhood, and Librans want your constant protection and understanding.

Your best home location:

A northwest location is best for Virgo, though you're happiest with a spring-like decor of wicker furniture, yellows, greens, blues. You also have at least one room in the house that is dominated by earth tones. Your kitchen and dining room are your favorite rooms. All Virgos live beautifully, even if they're only taking home $50 a week.

VIRGO FINANCES

You are your own worst enemy in financial matters. You can lay out detailed budgets and financial plans with the best of them, and then abandon them totally when you see that perfect porcelain object for the house, or when a new boat manufacturer comes out with some pristine bit of sailing perfection.

In your favor, however, is that you do drive a hard bargain, even for an impulse item. Your sense of perfection demands you not only get the best item but the best price!

You try to stay within your financial means but you have a strong ability to alternate between frugality and extravagance. When necessary, you have a highly disciplined ability to deny yourself the good things that you feel you are entitled to, if they interfere with an even larger objective.

Your biggest financial weakness, still, is an object of fine workmanship and the fact that you regard anything that isn't of the highest standards as somewhat tacky. You pay a great deal of attention to price, and feel that you get what you pay for — a $45 purse obviously has to have better merit over a $10 purse, or a $35 tie must do something that a $15 tie doesn't. It's prestige that you're thinking of; after all, you might run into another Virgo who will think less of you for your scruffiness! (And a Virgo is NEVER scruffy.)

Virgos can be skimpy on presents to other people. You may find a pair of satin-quilted hangers on sale and give them to a friend for a birthday present. You have a habit of giving little objects around the house that you no longer care for.

Many Virgos marry for money and then spend the rest of their married lives learning that it would have been cheaper to borrow it. Most wealthy Virgos got that way through the efforts of a partner. Virgo men marry financially solvent women: Virgo women marry financially solvent men.

You keep a balanced checkbook, even if actual figures may not be of interest to you. It's a matter of neatness and order, which is the core of the Virgo nature.

Best investments: Virgos who wish to do stock-market speculation should stick to blue chip stocks and mutual funds because of their strong security elements. Any company dealing with communication is also a good buy, as well as all major computer companies.

Best time for spending: September 21 to October 21.

Best financial advisor: Libra.

Biggest financial weakness: Paying for services that you could do just as well yourself.

Gambling tips: Gambling isn't in your nature — not the professional kind, anyway — but if you want to follow a Virgo sports team, try the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Virgo corporations: Dupont, Goodyear and International Harvester.

Profitable hobby: Your interpretative ability in a foreign language.

VIRGO CAREER AND JOB

Take a Virgo away from his or her career and you take away a Virgo's reason for living. Even an unemployed Virgo will be likely to turn a hobby or pastime into a work effort. It's your nature and your job intensity is one of your strongest career assets.

Unlike your other zodiac counterparts, you don't require spectacular, splashy assignments in your work. You can be fascinated by what others would consider drudgery. You labor away at details, sometimes forgetting the whole project — which is one of the reasons why you might not make the swift advancements that other signs make. A Virgo secretary is not apt to be promoted, because she's so good at what she does she couldn't be replaced. But she is also the sort that will dutifully type a letter without considering other implications of it, or ways to expand letter-typing in general.

You need people in your work — and you need variety, however. You aren't going to labor away happily at one detailed project for a long time — but SEVERAL projects will interest you as you flit back and forth from one to another. You also like to be part of a group project, and the group morale has an enormous bearing on your own.

You want to be thought of as brilliant, and you're especially good at any job that requires words — either written or spoken.

Virgos frequently labor at two jobs, and many times it is because you have turned a hobby into a profit-making enterprise. Your worst trait on the job is that work is your whole life; you do not bring to it the sort of mind that has benefitted from outside diversions, that can be twice as skillful and creative because of its stimulation in other areas.

Typical Virgo occupations: Editorial work; critical work; writing; law, nutrition and dietetics; veterinary medicine, bookkeeping and accounting; economics; financial work, nursing; any work connected with helping the sick.

Best career times: May 21-June 21 for career recognition or for landing another job; Sept. 21-Oct. 21 for financial gains; January 21-February 21 for general success.

Best boss: Gemini

Best subordinate: Aquarius

Sign to watch out for: Leo

Worst career mistake: Being too critical

Decanate specifics: Virgos born August 21 to August 31 tend to lack self-confidence in their work. They should find a mentor in their job environment who will realize their dedicated service and push them on to bigger and better things, if indeed that's what they want. Most people born under this sign usually ignore promotions. Virgos born September 1-September 11 make excellent teachers. However, there can be a negative streak and serious fits of despondency. Virgos born September 12 - September 21 should channel their job energies to strictly creative tasks

VIRGO HEALTH

Since many illnesses can be brought on by emotional unrest or nervousness — and since Virgo's constant desire for perfection makes them nervous as a sign — it's safe to say that many Virgo illnesses are caused by mental stress. Virgo has rulership over the intestines and liver, and many of your sign are subject to disorders in these parts of the body.

You're the most hygienic of signs, so diseases brought on by lack of cleanliness are rarely found in Virgo. You're extremely careful about what you eat, and even more so about how it is prepared. You frequently ask these questions when you eat out — which is rare, because of the problems you encounter at restaurants that appear to have questionable sanitation standards.

You are always aware of the latest diet and hygiene fad, and you probably subscribe to many health magazines. (When you go to a doctor's office, you're probably one of the few patients there who doesn't mind reading 10-year-old medical magazines.) Your only setback in this regard is that you sometimes indulge in fad diets that have not been proven safe.

You are usually cautious in health matters. You don't necessarily believe everything a doctor tells you. You can generally be critical of a diagnosis, and you're quick to tell a physician if you don't agree with him.

It's characteristic of Virgo to wear their illnesses like status symbols. You probably make a ritual out of taking medicine. If it is supposed to be taken before a meal, you'll drag it to the table and make sure every one sees you taking it. Remember that famous photo of Virgo Lyndon Johnson "showing his scar" from an operation? Typical Virgo.

Some good Virgo health habits:

- Virgo is an earth sign and you should be growing many of your dinners. Even growing your own herbs is beneficial since you have a way with the earth.

- Some good Virgo herbs: mint, thyme, parsley.

- Massages are good for aching Virgo muscles, and many Virgos actually enroll in massage classes at various vocational institutions.

- Some Virgos are susceptible to clothing allergies: this should always be considered when investigating unexplainable reactions.

- Good sports to consider: rowing, swimming, ice-skating

- Best doctor: Aquarius

VIRGO GOALS HOPES AND WISHES

Virgo always wants to be thought of as intellectually superior. You love knowledge and the feel of education in a matter, not for its own sake as a Gemini would, but for what such knowledge can do for you.

Consequently, one of your primary goals is knowledge, and the education involved is a sometimes life-time pleasure for you.

The "why" behind your goals, and the way to channel your energies to reach it, can be better understood by considering your birth time. Though this isn't a total horoscopic interpretation, it can further define your Virgo goals.

If born between 4 AM and 6 AM, you are a double Virgo and one of the most intensely analytical of all people. Badly-channeled, it can nearly alienate you from others because you tend to pick away so much at projects, ideas, peoples — and, yes, your own dreams even — that there's scarcely anything left when you are through. You should channel your education into the arts and literature, for your unusually sharp eye would find much there to observe. Cancer people can be helpful to you in reaching your goals.

If born between 2 AM and 4 AM, you could well afford the best education you can get with this placement, and you should channel your interests into financial studies in which you could probably excel with training. Geminis make valuable friends.

If born between Midnight and 2 AM, your innate literary talent needs to be expanded; anything, or any course involving communication — from journalism to court reporting — would be beneficial. Listen to Taurus associates.

If born between Midnight and 10 PM, real estate studies — or any educational course involving property and the home — would be an excellent choice for you. Aries friends have your interests at heart.

If born between 8 PM and 10 PM, you have excellent creative ability. This is good birth time and sun sign for music studies since there is a strong Taurus influence in your chart. Seek counsel from Pisces friends.

If born between 6 PM and 8 PM, you should take up the medical studies you've been interested in; not necessarily studies to become a medical doctor, but something related to the medical or service field. You'll be encouraged by Aquarian friends.

If born between 4 PM and 6 PM, any educational course relating to the public would be of interest to you; public speaking and salesmanship are two such examples. Cultivate Capricorn associates.

If born between 2 PM and 4 PM, you have good basic comprehension of financial matters. At the other extreme, you'd also be good in off-beat subjects such as astrology, handwriting analysis, etc. Get some advice from a Sagittarius.

If born between Noon and 2 PM, you have an excellent philosophical mind and a yen to travel. Studies leading to a broader knowledge of the travel industry would be a good choice. A Scorpio is probably interested in seeing you succeed.

If born between 10 AM and Noon, you should pursue an education that would be of use in government work. Libra friends will encourage you.

If born between 8 AM and 10 AM, studies relating to psychology or religion would be enjoyable. You will find another Virgo interested in your goals.

If born between 6 AM and 8 AM, studies pertaining to law should be of interest, as well as those relating to art or the art world. Listen to Leos.

THE VIRGO SUBCONSCIOUS

You are the person who takes on the menial tasks that nobody else wants; you perform diligently and correctly the work that you sometimes don't even get credit for.

It might even be thought that you enjoy sweeping up after others, both family and work associates.

Not true. Subconsciously every Virgo harbors an attitude of great expansiveness, but the fact is you're not comfortable with power. You are comfortable next to it, beside it, behind it, around it, but not officially wrapped in it.

The reason for this is your subconscious fear of communication loss. And you secretly suspect that the higher you go, the more you invite the isolation that goes with power . . . being told only what subordinates feel you should be told, being "protected" from the reality that is as strong to you as the earth that is your element.

For the most part, you function well — and enjoy being — in the shadow of power. And you're one of the few signs that powerful people will always feel they can trust.

Which is why you're satisfied being the power behind the throne; the trust of a powerful person — or simply of any person — is, to you, a power unlike any other.

Deep down, you sense it may be the greatest power of all.

LIBRA

September 22 to October 22

RULER: VENUS

QUALITY: Cardinal

INTRODUCTION

Witty, sensitive, gentle ... that's your general image if you were born under the sign of Libra, September 22 to October 22. You can get along with the devil himself if necessary, and probably have enough charm left over to convince God you were only trying to win a convert. You're St. Patrick's Day, the Humane Society, a lot of faith, and a heart of gold ... all wrapped into one Venus-ruled package.

Is it any wonder everybody loves a Libra?

And is it also any wonder that few people realize the towering strength that is your right as a Cardinal sign? There's another side to every Libra and it would be doing you an injustice (you'd hate that) not to mention that you're no good-natured door mat.

You can hide an uncomfortable statement in a potpourri of kind words. You can be a sympathetic dumping-place for other people's problems, but use another's confidence if it promotes your own goals. However, in all fairness it has to be said that no Libra ever deliberately hurts anyone. You simply understand the law of self-preservation. Your need for status and prestige — which is considerable — always dominates you.

Other strengths in your Libran personality can be understood in the light of your decanate or sign division. If you were born September 22 to October 1, you're the gentlest of the sign, the true Libran. Your judgment is the sharpest, and yet your kindness the most pronounced. Born October 2 to October 11 you have a more eccentric way about you, and a fine original flair. You're advanced in your thought and natives of this decanate include some of the most intellectually brilliant of the sign. Born October 12 through October 22 you have a strong Mercurial influence. You're restless and you talk a great deal. You have a low boredom quotient, and this reduces your tolerance considerably.

LIBRA ROMANCE

No matter how you might protest, a Libran is always looking for permanence in every romance ... a partner if not actually a legal spouse. You'll see a wrong number as somebody to walk into the sunset with, even though you'll take hundreds of sunsets to make up your mind about anyone.

Librans are probably the most emotional of the three air signs (Aquarius and Gemini are the others) because of your Venus ruler. You have a sentimental quality to you as well. In a romantic situation, you are one of the most lovable of people. You're attracted to conservative, conventional types — usually attractive, since you probably are yourself. You do have a peculiar streak in that well-balanced demeanor: the "forbidden" element of a relationship always seems to enhance your feelings for a person. Put a "Do Not Touch" sign on somebody and you're magnetically attracted. Even if the person is a Cyclop.

Libran affairs have sudden endings — just like they have sudden beginnings. You're fickle; even though you spend your whole life trying to achieve harmony, you sometimes seek out people who cause a serious lack of it in your life.

Librans like stormy romances, which is just as well. You have a way of getting them.

You can be exasperating, but anyone who has ever loved a Libra — and that only includes the whole world — will admit you're worth it.

COMPATIBILITY WITH OTHER SIGNS:

With another Libra: Two Librans deciding on each other is a feat in itself, but the relationship will be filled with the sort of gossamer stuff they write songs about.

Scorpio: Libra's gentle nature will go through boot camp with Scorpio's toughness. Some Scorpions, however, have a way of putting you in your place and you find you're grateful somebody had the courage to do so.

Sagittarius: Good mental compatibility here; Libra usually decides how the relationship will go.

Capricorn: Capricorns are apt to take advantage of Libra's fine ways. Libra wants to relate; Capricorn wants to use. Capricorns are also not given to the sort of sentimentality that Librans adore.

Aquarius: Both air signs, this makes for a compatible match, one of the greater affairs.

Pisces: This combination is almost too soft, like velvet on marshmallows. But Libra will find Pisces fascinating and vice versa.

Aries: No middle ground here. Aries can either be totally attracted or totally turned off by a Libra. It works both ways.

Taurus: Both Taurus and Libra are ruled by Venus, and there's a mutual gentility here that can amount to something special. You can teach one another a lot.

Gemini: You're one of the best matches around for Gemini, and the mental rapport is one of the greatest Gemini has some untidy ways, though, which can drive you up the wall.

Cancer: You may be attracted to the Cancer sentimentality, but Cancer is no gentle butterfly and can occasionally enforce one of the toughest wills you're apt to see. What this does, however, is encourage an equally strong will in you.

Leo: This is a good match. Leo is a loving sign and there is mutual appreciation. Every Libra should love at least one Leo in a lifetime.

Virgo: Both of you have a mental approach to romance, so your attraction will probably be intellectual. Virgos like nice things, and most Libras know they're nice.

LIBRA MARRIAGE AND FAMILY RELATIONSHIPS

A single Libran is a rare creature indeed. Most Librans marry young (you're the sign of partnerships, remember?) and often have two marriages in their lifetimes. Librans usually acquire a subtle need to dominate or a strong need for independence once past the age of 30 which can create havoc in many family situations.

You are apt to have problems in the home because of your peculiar ability to attract quarrels without actually starting them. You are a bit of a catalyst when it comes to provoking hostility; you aren't actually hostile, but somehow hostile things happen because of you! One area much discussed in Libra households, for example, is your partner's prominence. Libra men want to be married to women who are strong community leaders or who at least enhance their own prestige. Libra women insist on being married to men who elevate their own status.

Status . . . that's an important word to you, and you're not apt to let your mate forget it, even for a moment. It's engrained in every Libran that a mate increases prestige, and Librans can be the most disappointed sign around if a partner fails to fulfill such a promise.

Your partner is apt to be an aggressive sort of person, somewhat ambitious, and probably attractive.

Relationships with children:

Librans generally produce charming children who have more friends than one house can hold. They usually have strong original streaks in them. Your favorite relationship would probably be with your Aquarius youngster, and the other two air signs — Gemini and Libra — would be equally compatible with you as a parent. You would probably relate badly with Capricorns, but would understand your Taurus. You'd find disharmony with a Virgo child at times, though your Virgos would bring you the most happiness in later years. Water signs such as Cancer, Scorpio and Pisces would, in general, make excellent children for Libra because of your ability to understand with logic their emotional qualities; Cancer, however, might on occasion try to dominate the parent/child relationship. Leo and Sagittarius, both fire signs, would require more control than another child; and while you would feel a strong kinship with your Aries youngster, you might find yourself exhausted at keeping up with them.

Your home location:

Your home should have a west exposure — the better to show off and appreciate fine works of art in the setting sunlight. Blues and turquoises dominate most Libra homes — and you feel comfortable with them.

LIBRA FINANCES

You're very secretive about finances. You reveal your salary and your financial conditions only if absolutely necessary, and then with every reluctance in the world. Many Librans keep their actual financial status a secret even from their spouses. Nobody really knows why Libra is like this — in everything else you're one of the most open people around — but you dislike discussing your money status, and harbor funny feelings even when you deposit pay checks at the bank, like somebody is watching you. Or like the teller actually cares.

You dislike parting with money. You are not stingy, but you have a deep-rooted fear of poverty and you're constantly worrying that the $15 you spent yesterday may be needed for an emergency tomorrow. Not that it stops you from indulging in art, books and the kinds of things you love.

In money matters, your basic need for moderation and balance is always in the forefront. You dislike installment buying and figure that if you don't have the money for it, you can't afford it.

In investments, you rarely make up your mind yourself unless you have a strong Taurus or Leo influence in your total horoscope. Wise Librans usually have some sort of payroll deduction for savings, or deductions where a bank automatically removes money from a checking account and puts it into a savings account — that way, you're not faced with the recurring decision of saving.

Another Libran saving tactic is to invest raises before they occur. You figure if you haven't gotten used to that extra $50 a month, you are not going to miss it when it goes into a savings plan.

Best investments: Art, aerospace, airplanes, cosmetics, anything dealing with the arts — they're all good investments for you.

Best time for spending: October 21 to November 21

Best financial advisor: Scorpio

Biggest financial weakness: Waiting too long to buy something — and art!

Gambling tips: Libran teams to watch include the Cleveland Indians and the Milwaukee Brewers.

Libran corporation: General Motors

Profitable hobby: Leather and jewelry making

LIBRAN CAREER AND JOB

Toss a Libra into a career situation, and you automatically view the whole thing as an enormous chess board. Queen's Pawn advances to the third rank. Rook captures Bishop. Knight's Pawn's Gambit. Mate and checkmate.

Who can manipulate better than a Libra? And by so doing, throw nearly everybody off guard? Your strength in a working situation is that you play everyone's game well. You can be nearly anything anyone wants you to be in a job situation because for you it has no emotional quality. Bawdy, raunchy, one of the boys? Yes, that's you. Sympathetic, quietly understanding? You're that too. Super-efficient report giver, fact-assimilator? Who could outrank the sign of The Scales in that respect? You're all these things — sometimes within any given 5-minute span.

The only problem is when someone else catches on to what you're doing. Or when you sometimes operate so many different roles that you forget which one you really were to begin with.

Your manipulative talents are primarily to achieve balance. You do not want to create disharmony in a situation, so you blend whatever is needed. You create a personality to fit any situation. These are among the reasons that Librans switch jobs as often as they do. You MUST have balance in working relationships or you'll never produce what you feel you're capable of producing.

There is usually a secret aspect to your work, even if your job sounds innocent. Somehow a Libra is always asked to take on something that isn't supposed to be generally known around the company.

Your only other major job flaw is your legendary inconsistency. You need to learn to deliver as expected on each assignment.

Librans, for what it may be worth, are usually the best-dressed employees in their office. Highly clothes-conscious, you know how to make the image work on the job.

Libran occupations: The arts — painting, sculpture, architecture; aviation; engineering, or anything involving precision and order; hairdressing cosmetology; law; diplomacy; criminology; social work; furniture; dressmaking; engraving.

Decanate specifics: September 22-October 1 births are apt to be the most creative of the Libra sun sign, and should strongly pursue careers that will give their talents a strong field of play. If you were born October 2 to October 12 you have an unpredictable, genius quality; you also have a restless urge, so it would be best to ply one trade or craft and be able to take it with you wherever you go. Born October 13 to October 22, you'd be shrewd at the toughest forms of law or forensic skills; you also probably do some free-lance writing on the side.

Best career times: October 21 to November 21 for additional financial benefits; February 21 to March 21 for general career success; June 21 to July 21 for recognition and outstanding benefits.

Best boss: Cancer

Best subordinate: Pisces

Sign to watch out for: Virgo

Worst career mistake: Passivity

LIBRA HEALTH

One of the Libran problems in health is that once you are diagnosed you can frequently develop allergies to the drugs that can help you. Libras are also prone to taking drugs simultaneously that are not meant to be taken at the same time, or for mixing alcohol with pain relievers.

All of this is rough on your kidneys; you're subject to some chronic kidney problems. Libra also is a likely candidate for ulcers, since you frequently keep all of your turmoil bottled up inside you.

Some good Libra health habits:

- Seek out anti-stress foods, as directed by your doctor, of course. There are certain anti-stress diets "making the rounds" so to speak, and they're high on foods that are rich in potassium (like mushrooms) and Vitamin C.

- Exercise is another great tension-reducer. One that you ought to take up: fencing. The grace and regality of the sport will appeal to you and you will be helping yourself relax.

- Some of Libra's best foods: oatmeal, blueberries, celery.

- Good herbs for Libra: thyme and kelp

- Your dinner time MUST be relaxing and harmonious. Eat alone rather than with people who upset you.

- A healthy mind is imperative to a healthy Libra body.

LIBRA GOALS HOPES AND WISHES

Like most Cardinal signs (Capricorn, Aries and Cancer are the others), Libra wants status. But while a Capricorn would work desperately to achieve it, an Aries would assume it, a Cancer would wish for it, a Libra generally strives to achieve goals through others.

Libras have excellent judgment in aligning themselves with the right people. Add to that a curious, child-like trust in the good faith of other people, and it's understandable why most people don't want to disappoint you.

Many of your goals to achieve status sometimes become goals in themselves; the right house, right job, right mate, best children. But you do not suffer from lack of self-esteem, and you see all things fair in life; one of the things that you will always regard as unjust is anything that keeps you from your rightful place.

Your hopes and wishes can be further understood in the light of your birth time. Though a totally accurate assessment would depend on the exact hour and minute of your birth, plus the place, date and year, this general approach can provide you with useful input.

If born between 4 and 6 AM, you are a double Libra. You have been blessed with exceptional physical attractiveness and a superb sense of fairness. You frequently get what you want through sheer magnetism and total charm — both of which you have in abundance. Lean on Leo people.

If born between 2 AM and 4 AM, you have a sharp sense of awareness. This position makes two marriages almost certain as well as a healthy series of business partnerships, most of the time with people that you dominate. This is an excellent position for a lawyer or a writer, particularly a poet. Cancer people can help you considerably.

If born between Midnight and 2 AM, you add a fine sense of drama to your good judgment, and you have a style that others quickly recognize. Most people can't resist you, even if you do occasionally come across as conceited. You'll find Gemini people can help you realize your wants in life.

If born between 10 PM and Midnight, you can expect great success in the city of your birth. You probably had a strong parent, even if this parent's prominence did make you timid. You want nothing more than home and hearth in life. Listen to Taurus people; they can help.

If born between 8 PM and 10 PM, you have a restless nature to you, and freedom and independence are important to you. You have highly graceful hands, a wickedly creative flair about you, and almost constant attention from the opposite sex whether you're single or married.

Find an Aries, who won't be jealous, to listen to your problems.

If born between 6 PM and 8 PM, you have a fine way with people who consider you superior to themselves. Your health is probably good, and one of your best assets is a fine voice. Best friend: Pisces.

If born between 4 PM and 6 PM, you're much more aggressive than the average Libra. You probably learned early in life that — while others would help you — you had to make yourself known to them . . . loud and often! You're highly ambitious and you will marry — or already have married — well. Aquarius can be a good support.

If born between 2 PM and 4 PM, you're endowed with a certain sense of luck and timing that most people find incredible. You have a high degree of intuition . . . and probably several Capricorn friends that you trust.

If born between Noon and 2 PM, you're a bit of a philosopher, probably enjoy teaching others or instructing them, professionally or otherwise. You can have lots of luck on foreign trips, and friendships with those of foreign birth is enormously beneficial to you. You are considered ever-so-slightly eccentric, except by helpful Sagittarius types.

If born between 10 PM and Noon, your natural Libra desire for prestige and status is doubled. You have a fine business sense, and good administrative abilities. You could find success in government work. This position also gives wealthy in-laws. It also gives some good Scorpio friends.

THE LIBRA SUBCONSCIOUS

Librans rarely discuss their problems in life with others, and some people may suspect that you don't have any. As a Libra, you prefer to think that the world is a little bit lighter because of your being in it. You frequently swallow your own hurt rather than allow someone else to know that they've hurt you. You know there's a big cesspool out there, and you won't contribute to it.

Consequently, you're the master of the witty gesture, the pungent insight, the one-liner. You're reds and golds on a background of grey, with a touch of Pagliacci thrown in for good measure. You're aware of what Mark Twain once wrote, that there is "no humor in heaven" . . . and hopefully no need for it.

You secretly suspect that the world is going to break your heart in the end.

Fortunately, of course, the picture is never quite as dim as you are prone to see it.

If your own private agonies make you laugh against destiny and spit in the wind, they also provide you with an attitude and awareness that not only set you apart but provide a power all their own.

Confronted by your own Knight of the Mirror, you don't shrink from the dazzle, but gaze — curiously — at the image in it. And walk away, content, happy to know it was your own reflection. And you liked what you saw.

SCORPIO

October 23 - November 21

SYMBOL: THE SCORPION    QUALITY: Fixed
RULER: PLUTO            ELEMENT: Water

INTRODUCTION

All Scorpions have the potential to run their lives like skilled musical conductors directing a powerful symphony. Perfect timing, eloquent blending, brilliant counterpoint.

It's yours for the asking: you're considered the most powerful sign simply because you combine the will of a fixed sign with the intuition of a water sign. The water-sign element inspires your direction; the fixed quality gives you the determination to maintain that direction.

Of course, there are no doubt a few Scorpions around wallowing in a sea of problems, but they're the ones who ignore the incredible Plutonian instinct and listen to other people. A Scorpio misusing that inherent dynamism is probably the most confused of all . . . like a child playing with the Hope Diamond.

Oddly enough, there are a few Scorpions who are "in between." You're either a sleek creature of instinct or a self-destructive mass of neuroticism. It's strange to find a Scorpio who is a middle-grounder, and it's likely that when it does occur, the individual Scorpio simply hasn't chosen the direction yet. Mediocrity isn't for you. Like Teddy Roosevelt, a Scorpio, once said: "Far better to dare mighty things, to win glorious triumphs, even though checkered by failure, than to take rank with those poor spirits who neither enjoy much nor suffer much, because they live in the gray twilight that knows not victory nor defeat."

He could well have been expressing the basic attitude of every Scorpio that ever lived.

Scorpions vary in the power according to the decanate or division of the sign in which they were born.

If you were born between October 23 and November 1, you're the most intense of Scorpios, capable of achieving much or hurting deeply. You are a very mysterious individual in that you are capable of a much greater depth than other people are apt to realize.

If you were born between November 2 and November 11, you are given to more creative pastimes than the other decanates. With a strong Neptune influence in this decanate, you are capable of being deceived by others more than the other sign divisions. You need a great deal of love, particularly from a strong-minded partner.

If you were born November 12 through November 21, you're the most emotional of Scorpios, and the most likely to ignore your innate power of correct timing. You have a tendency to throw caution to the winds, and you can be highly moody.

SCORPIO ROMANCE

Scorpios are legendary for being the sex sign of the zodiac, and whether you are or not, you will find other people think you are, no matter what you do (or don't do).

Nobody really chooses a Scorpio as a romantic partner. You choose them. If they resist, they can settle back and watch one of the most determined chases of their lives. (A Scorpio friend of mine tirelessly phoned a would-be lover for eight months all over the globe before he ever returned the call. They were later married.)

The people you choose to have involvements with can be married to someone else, hopelessly involved with someone you don't even know, or dating your best friend. As a matter of fact, the harder they are to catch, the more intrigued you are. That's the challenge!

The one thorn in Scorpio's romantic side is that you will find serious attachments always demand a great deal of personal sacrifice for you. This is one reason why the legendarily "sexy" Scorpios will go years without being emotionally involved with anyone. Then, like the brilliant musical conductor I mentioned a few pages back, you snap your fingers and the cymbals crash.

Another body has succumbed to the Scorpio magnetism.

YOUR COMPATIBILITY WITH OTHER SIGNS:

With another Scorpio: This is almost too much intensity, too much passion. But you will continually fascinate one another. Much depends here on the signs that the other planets in your chart are occupying. You will probably, however, be able to read one another's mind, but not to the point of being bored.

Sagittarius: Sagittarius can provide some interesting moments for a Scorpio, but will never understand a Scorpio. Fortunately, this rarely interferes with the success of the relationship.

Capricorn: This can be a strong brother-sister relationship. Capricorns rarely understand Scorpio's romantic needs, and can be very demanding of Scorpio besides.

Aquarius: Traditionally, this is supposed to be a difficult match, but the Aquarian vision will interest Scorpio mentally. It takes a highly-evolved Scorpio personality to relate to Aquarius on the best of levels.

Pisces: Both Scorpio and Pisces are water signs and fairly compatible.

Aries: There's good mutual ground here, but Aries will be constantly embroiled in arguments with Scorpio.

Taurus: These are polar opposite signs and can be both a good and a bad relationship. Taurus' all-surface, sometimes plodding ways can irritate Scorpio.

Gemini: This is an excellent match. Geminis are totally curious, and it takes centuries to totally understand a Scorpio. Scorpions also tend to have a respect for Geminis as well as an understanding of their faults.

Cancer: Another water sign, but Cancer's sensitivity may suffer from the Scorpio sting.

Leo: Not-such-a-hot match. Leos should control things but usually can't. Scorpions tend to lose respect for weak people.

Virgo: Virgos are a bit straight for Scorpio's sometimes-raunchy ideas. Virgos are intellectually interesting to Scorpions, however.

Libra: This is a so-so match. Libra sees the inherent qualities in Scorpio, but the relationship usually suffers because of a failure of mutual understanding.

SCORPIO MARRIAGE AND FAMILY RELATIONSHIPS

There's a strong psychological need in every Scorpio to "lose" themselves in the love of a good person. But, being Scorpio, it can't be just anybody, and the love must be a powerful thing. You see love for the depth and the strength of the soul that it can be, and it's a rare Scorpio that would be fooled into accepting a Hollywood version.

You have certain fixed ideas of how a spouse should be: you must be comfortable with your mate's values; there must be instant and constant sexual attraction; your mate must be strong, and — above all — someone you can respect. Scorpios also like for their partners to have purpose — which is sometimes misconstrued as wanting material success. It's not the same thing at all, and a Scorpio would be quick to point this out. Purpose to you is part of a person's overall strength — direction, objectives — and you like that.

You also have to have someone who understands your frequent desire to be left alone. Scorpios love to take long vacations without their mates; you've even considered the idea of living apart though legally married. It appeals to you.

Scorpios are fiercely loyal to their family ties, including not only their spouses and children but their own parents, brothers and sisters. All Scorpios are secretly clannish and despite frequent rifts caused by your blatant honesty, you cling to your roots.

Relationships with children:

You're possessive of your children just as you are of your spouse. But it isn't likely that you may have more than two children, if that many. Basically, you find children boring interferences in your constant search for experiences. If you do have children, you're an instinctive parent, however, and usually know the right time and the right way to handle a child. Many Scorpios say that they didn't understand the joy of discovering until they had their own children, and these are the types who regard parenthood as the most marvelous experience of all. But it isn't likely, however, that you would try to live your life through your children.

Your best relationship would be with a Piscean youngster, though another Scorpio or Cancer would also be good sources of joy to you. You also relate well to Gemini, Libra and some Aquarian offspring, though you find it difficult to control an Aquarius. A Taurus child would be either a joy or a polar opposite — Taureans rarely hide their feelings from Scorpio parents, good or bad. Capricorns and Virgos would be excellent friends to you in later years, though as children they would feel squelched under your powerful magnetism. Fire sign children could be bothersome: you can expect a frequent clash of wills with a Leo, and the Leo has a good chance of winning; Aries' headstrong ways and rashness will annoy you; and you worry most about your Sagittarius.

Your home location:

Your home should have a Southwest location, preferably near water. Scorpios like deep, rich colors, and you frequently mix beiges, browns and blacks in a room for a dramatic decorating effect. You have a way with difficult plants, and they probably flourish under your watchful eye. It's also a rare Scorpio who doesn't want to convert the basement into a secret retreat.

SCORPIO FINANCES

You're ahead of the crowd when it comes to financial cunning. Whether it's making money, attracting money, investing it or advising others how to invest it — your incredible instincts always seem to know what bits of judgment to act on and which ones to ignore.

If it's all heady wine, it ought to be.

Oddly enough, you care little for loot in the way a Taurus, your opposite sign, would. You see money as something of a score card. A raise, for example, doesn't mean so much to you for the additional material things it can buy as it indicates to you a measure of your own abilities.

Scorpios are among the best when it comes to negotiating raises. This is primarily because of your sense of timing. You almost always know the best time to approach a superior about a raise, and you instantly sense what tactics are the best at getting one. It's probably more than likely that you don't even have to ask . . . bosses have a way of looking out for Scorpios because they don't want to lose them.

You're uncommonly generous with other people, though you're probably a bit miserly when it comes to yourself. Somehow the logic doesn't quite fit; you'll wear an old coat past its prime in order to have money to send a relative on a trip somewhere.

You usually spend on things that can't really be measured in dollars and cents; education is a big item with you. You're also enormously charitable with money, and probably have a pet institution that gets your regular contributions.

Best Scorpio investments: Anything dealing with research, energy or ventures that could uncover secrets of the sea. They're naturals for a water-sign mystery like yourself.

Best times for spending: A Scorpio usually knows better than anyone when the time is right for anything. However, your solar chart would advise November 21 to December 21 as a profitable time of the year for you.

Biggest financial weakness: Listening to the advice of others.

Gambling tips: Scorpios who gamble usually gamble well; those that don't gamble well don't gamble at all. If you want to follow a Scorpio team, try the St. Louis Cardinals or the Houston Astros.

Best financial advisor: If you want to listen to anybody else, let it be Sagittarius.

Scorpio corporations: Eastman Kodak was incorporated under the sign of Scorpio and is compatible for Scorpios, especially those born October 21-23. Union Carbide is also a corporate Scorpio and Scorpios born October 31 - Nov. 2 will follow its progress with interest.

Profitable hobby: Research on psychic subjects ranging from astrology to pyramid energy.

SCORPIO CAREER AND WORK

You may not be the hardest worker of the zodiac (Aries and Capricorn are usually out there vying for that honor), but you are the most intense about your job. Body AND soul are involved when it comes to your career. And it's likely that your career is highly important, because it's a source of finances, recognition and challenge for you.

You aren't especially team-minded in your work. Unlike your Virgo friends who are content to be the power behind the throne, you must be somebody. You want your work to bring you the honors you feel you deserve. A typical Scorpio hang-up is usually being too anxious, and wanting to lead before you have followed. By all stretches of the imagination, you are one of the few signs that could do it. The probability lies in the fact that ordinarily nobody will let you.

But you're a Scorpio, and your career goals can be rigidly fixed. You do not allow anything or anyone to distract you once you've chosen career success as a goal. You have an uncanny advantage in that you're close-mouthed. You never show your hand, NEVER reveal your ambitions, nor do you ever feel a need to do so.

Scorpios are tops at exploring mysteries, which is why many of you are found in the field of medicine and similar science/arts. But even if you aren't in a true science, you'll usually find plenty in a regular corporate position to appeal to your sleuthing appetites. It's Scorpio who senses the problems that are about to come up — and gets in jostling position to perfect a coup before anybody else has had coffee.

Nobody understands corporate politics better than a Scorpio, and nobody can play them better — or dislike them more. Phoniness is contrary to the Scorpio nature; blunt directness is more-like-it in your book. But you're aware that when in Rome, do as the Romans. You usually cater to others with only minimum compromising of your own principles.

Scorpios tend to be critical and bossy of subordinates and co-workers. This again goes back to the fact that you secretly know you could do a job better by yourself than with much of the assistance you sometimes have.

Let's face it, Scorpio; you always think of yourself as self-employed, because you know — whether it's on the job or anywhere else in life — that you are the most important asset you have.

Typical Scorpio occupations: Pollution and environmental control; medicine; research; financial analysis; funeral directors; life insurance; detective work; investigative work; occult interests; criminology; welfare work; tax consultant; research or biographical writing; art; architecture.

Decanate specifics: Born October 23-Nov. 1, you're likely to succeed at any position, and you're more success-oriented than the other decanates. This is because achievements and recognition come quickly to you, and you are not bogged down with negative discouragement. Born November 2-November 11, you're the most artistic decanate and relate well to jobs with a creative bent. You could also make an excellent musician. Born November 12-November 21, you're highly emotional and have a more lovable quality than the typical Scorpio. You need to be in jobs that cater directly to people and the public. Your concentrative powers are reduced and you have a tendency to job-hop. Your personality is much stronger than your actual accomplishments.

Best career times: July 21-August 21 for outstanding recognition and achieving new positions; November 21-December 21 for salary and financial advances: March 21 -April 21 for general good luck on the job.

Best boss: Leo

Best subordinates: Aries

Signs to watch out for: Libra

SCORPIO HEALTH

You are probably healthier than most other signs primarily because of good dietary habits and a peculiar avoidance of unsanitary conditions. When you do become ill, however, you will find the bowels and generative organs are the most vulnerable parts of your body. You can also be susceptible to blood disorders.

It is a rare Scorpio who indulges heavily in the so-called "junk food." You're probably an A-1 gourmet to begin with (particularly if you were born November 12-21), and even if not you're big on vegetables and fruits (your favorites include peaches and grapes). Many Scorpions are vegetarians.

Because of your strong mind-over-matter approach, you are prone to find relief from health problems through what doctors call placebos. In other words, if you decide that a ½ teaspoon of sugar every day will prevent colds and viruses, it probably will. You could also make up your mind that walking 2 miles would do the same thing, and it would.

Some good Scorpio health habits:

- Rest is important for a Scorpio, since you drive yourself too hard.

- Mind control seminars or similar group studies are usually good for teaching Scorpions to relax.

- Good Scorpio herbs include sage, mustard and cloves. You should also try seasalt instead of regular table salt.

- And speaking of salt, Scorpions have a tendency to retain water, which is one of your biggest so-called weight problems.

- Another weight problem could stem from your aversions to food of any kind. Scorpios have been known to nearly starve themselves, not out of vanity, but because on occasion the idea of food repels them. There is a peculiar psychological problem associated with this that hits many Scorpios and should be treated by a doctor.

- Best medical advice for Scorpio would be from an Aries.

- Your best exercise: all water sports, particularly scuba-diving.

SCORPIO GOALS AND WISHES

What's behind your rich education, your intensive dabbling into everything ranging from mountain-climbing to yoga?

It's the one basic Scorpio goal: to experience. You feel badly cheated if you find that someone else knows something you don't know, or has done something you wanted to do but haven't done.

Your experiences, and your approach to experiences, will vary depending upon other factors in your total horoscope, one of which includes your time of birth.

If you were born from 6 AM to 8 AM, you're the headiest of adventurers, and probably thirst for as much travel as possible, since there is a strong Sagittarian note in your make-up. You are also keen on various philosophies and study them intensely. Libra is a good friend to you.

If you were born from 8 AM to 10 AM, you want as much achievement as possible, particularly in areas of your work. You also have many friends much like yourself, and you seek to learn as much as possible from them, sifting through what they offer to find what rings true for you. This is probably why you have so many other Scorpios as friends.

If you were born from 10 AM to Noon, there's an eccentric streak in you. You tend to ignore your fine instincts for what is right and wrong. You have fine leadership qualities, and you're very liberal politically. Listen to Sagittarians, who can help you reach a very vital prominence.

If you were born between Noon and 2 PM, your experience often tend to be more of the abstract. Thoughts, learning, new modes of education are vital to your interest. You are either a student of all of this or seek to teach it to others. You can be deeply religious. Capricorns — especially those of foreign birth — are worth knowing.

If you were born between 2 PM and 4 PM, you have a great interest in psychic phenomena and probably have considerable ESP. The understanding of all of this is very compelling to you. You also have good literary talent, and numerous Aquarian friends.

If you were born between 4 PM and 6 PM, you seek experiences that require as little change as possible. You're more fixed than even the average Scorpio, and you have an usually powerful magnetism, tremendous appetites. Pisceans can help you reach your goals, and you can learn much from their flexibility.

If you were born between 6 PM and 8 PM, your experience is much more diverse than others. You risk being a dilettante because you don't always bring your power to just one thing. You're easily distracted from direction that you have set for yourself. Let an Aries give advice.

If you were born between 8 PM and 10 PM, you seek experiences within your own growth as a person. You're more dependent than most Scorpions, and you have a much more gentle quality. You'll find Taurus appreciative of you.

If you were born between 10 PM and midnight, your pride sometimes keeps you from trying new things. You have a strong ego, and your experiences must be socially "right" to you. Gemini people can be inspirational.

If you were born between Midnight and 2 AM, you are enormously curious about people. This is an excellent position for any investigative work. You can be too critical and too nagging sometimes, so this isn't that good of a spot for marriage. You should cultivate Cancer people.

If you were born between 2 AM and 4 AM, you seek experiences that will bring you wealth and prestige. You don't care to do anything that will be degrading. You're an attractive Scorpio, with numerous Leo friends.

If you were born between 4 and 6 AM, you have a "double Scorpio" quality and can be either a devil or angel. This is a very hypnotic position, and you should use your power wisely. Virgos can sometimes make a difference in a life of great heights or of criminal depths.

THE SCORPIO SUBCONSCIOUS

You are blessed with an intensity few signs can claim. You're Madame Curie, the Scorpio, patiently waiting to find that one bit of uranium. You're Pablo Picasso, another Scorpio, taking art forms to new dimensions.

Because of your insight and perception, you always seem to know what's right, and you're far better at knowing yourself than anyone else.

Because of this, you might tend to avoid a subconscious flavor in your make-up: the need to belong, to share, to relate to someone else. Something inside you is drawn to the idea that no matter what you may ever be or ever achieve, it will be that much better if someone else is there to share it with you.

You frequently war within yourself about this; basically shy, you really don't like people that much and, sensing it, many of them tend to avoid you.

But a Scorpio who has the ability to give and who has someone else with whom that ability is shared is the most powerful Scorpio of all.

It will always be important for a Scorpio to learn to give and need.

SAGITTARIUS

RULER: JUPITER

QUALITY: Mutable

SYMBOL: THE ARCHER

INTRODUCTION

A Sagittarius can be found anywhere that the hunt is sweeter than the catch, or anywhere that fools are wildly rushing in while angels cringe outside the door.

But if you were born November 22 to December 20, the hunt is more important than the catch, and you do not have much in common with angels anyway

A Sagittarius will take on the roughest assignments (Winston Churchill was an Archer) with grace, eloquence and zest. You can also totally blunder minor efforts by a bluntness that is not only outrageous but goes beyond the call of duty. You don't just wait until somebody asks you what you think of something; you volunteer it, whether it's favorable or not.

You're the most expressive of signs (Gemini can match you, but rarely surpasses you) and you have a great deal of adventure and optimism to your nature. You're an excellent friend, wildly extravagant, and anybody who knows you will probably agree that there's a slight touch of something innocent in your nature — no matter how wild a life you lead.

A Sagittarian is best defined by Sun Sign in terms of the decanates or the divisions of the sign.

If you were born approximately November 22 to December 1, you are the true extrovert of this sign, a great conversationalist and frequently lucky.

If you were born December 2 to December 11, you have the basic Sagittarian optimism coupled with a strong ambition and a heavy force in your personality.

If you were born December 12 to December 20, you have a strong ego and a gambling instinct — whether you use it in a casino or in everyday living.

SAGITTARIAN ROMANCE

The person who loves a Sagittarius has to be tolerant, because you're not very consistent in your affections since you want to be liked by everyone. "Playing the field" — at least until you're married — is characteristic of you; not only do you want to spread the charm around, but a one-person relationship can feel foreign unless you're deeply in love.

Honesty is very important to you from someone else — particularly if it agrees with the way you think! You're difficult to keep up with for nearly anybody (except a Gemini or another Sagittarius) and you're equally difficult to pin down as to what you really want out of another person.

It's important that you share the same interests with your romantic attachments — most of them you probably met at an outdoor activity that you both like.

You are naturally optimistic about all of your romantic relationships; you assume after only a two-week interval that the other person feels the same way about you as you do about them. When the opposite proves true, you react quickly. A wounded Sagittarius will whimper slightly, then find a new toy.

Nothing keeps you down for long.

COMPATIBILITY WITH OTHER SIGNS:

With another Sagittarius: Quite a match, an interesting relationship combining fire with fire. Much will depend here on the position of Venus, Mars, and the Moon in the total horoscope.

Capricorn: Sagittarius may prove to be too much for Capricorn at times, since Capricorn doesn't believe in indiscriminate use of energy. But basically this is a good match for Sagittarius.

Aquarius: Another good match, likely to be on a more mental plateau. Aquarians usually wind up being good friends, once the heat has settled.

Pisces: This is generally a short-lived romantic attachment. Pisces lives in the world of illusion, rarely sees things as they are, and Sagittarius can appear blunt. The Piscean nature is a bit gentle for Sagittarius.

Aries: These are two fire signs that mesh well. Aries will likely be the dominant personality of the two partners and if everything goes the way an Aries wants it to, this could be the ticket.

Taurus: Taurus usually relates badly to Sagittarius' brilliance and shine and talkativeness. You're not the best companion for Taurus, but Taurus sometimes needs you. There's going to be an enormous sexual attraction here and you'll find Taurus exciting in that respect.

Gemini: These are opposites, but good opposites. You both share a love for mental activities. Gemini can end a relationship with a ruthlessness that Sagittarius may not have even thought about. Also, Gemini is not as honest in romantic matters as Sagittarius expects, which can lead to problems.

Cancer: Cancer's water-sign nature is sensitive and easily hurt, but this can still be a beautiful match.

Leo: Another fire-sign, though not as compatible as with Aries. Sagittarians who mesh better with Leos are usually those born approximately December 1 through December 11. Some Sagittarians can find Leo's ego and what-ever-I-say-is-truth ways boring and pretentious. In any event, the Sagittarius will always be more in love with the Leo than the other way around.

Virgo: This is not a really great match, but there can be tremendous mutual respect. Virgo can control Sagittarius easily, until Sagittarius becomes aware of the balance of the relationship.

Libra: Very few people can't get along with a Libra, but this relationship is especially well-suited. Libra will, of course, have marriage and permanent vibrations on the brain which — if Sagittarius senses too soon — could kill the romance.

Scorpio: The Scorpio passion for experience and the Sagittarian passion for life and living make this a dynamic relationship.

SAGITTARIUS MARRIAGE AND FAMILY RELATIONSHIPS

Since Sagittarius is a double-bodied sign, it's a strong possibility that there will be two "unions" in your life, regardless of whether they become legal marriages. This is especially true if one of them occurs early in life.

Your ideal marriage partner will be light-hearted and happy; this is important to you since a permanent sense of gloom and pessimism irritates your naturally buoyant nature. You are likely to marry (or be married to) a good conversationalist, since communication with your mate is important.

A strong religious — or at least philosophical — bond is likely in every Sagittarian marriage, and it can often hold the marriage together past the breaking point. It's not likely that you would marry anyone who did not share your beliefs — here again, whether they're religious or philosophical.

You and your mate, if you're happily married, no doubt laugh at the same things. That's the strongest bond there is in a Sagittarian union. You share a love for the outdoors as well.

You dislike deceit in anyone, and your close contact with your spouse means that should you catch a little white lie you can be absolutely furious. And a Sagittarian temper can be difficult!

Unless you are married to another Sagittarius, your speculative ways — from wanting to remodel an old house to moving to a foreign country — may put a strain on your marriage. Also, if you're married to a cynical sign like Gemini or Virgo, you will find your Jupiterian balloon of optimism being burst on more than one occasion by your mate.

The family relationship is, basically, a good one for you, provided everyone in the family sees one another as freedom-loving soul mates. But when the bills are due next week, when escapes to Morocco give way to books and shoes for the kids . . . something inside every Sagittarian secretly cringes.

As long as you see the spiritual aspects of the family, you're content.

Relationships with children:

As a parent, you're half the child yourself and half the wise philosopher that many children are. You usually have aggressive offspring, but rarely more than three. You give your children all the freedom in the world, but instill sound principles, particularly of a spiritual bent. You insist on their setting goals and working towards them, which is one of the reasons you encourage them to participate in sports where this comes naturally. When it comes to discipline, you gladly turn the toddlers over to your mate. You'll spoil them, play with them, teach them — but rarely correct them or discipline them. Your weakness here is that you don't really know unruliness in youngsters when you see it

You like your children active and open, and your favorite would probably be an Aries. You would also have good rapport with another Sagittarius or a Leo. Capricorn, Virgo and Taurus children might strike you as being too inactive. Air sign children — like Gemini, Aquarius and Libra — will provide good mental interest and your direction to them would be excellent. Cancers, Scorpios and Pisceans would be difficult to control and the result would be exactly what happens when fire signs and water signs combine: steam.

Your home location:

Sagittarians do well in homes with southwest exposures, much surrounding land, and lots of trees. The absence of land would make a condominium, for example, an unlikely place for you to be happy.

SAGITTARIAN FINANCES

Your generous, expansive ways are — ironically — better controlled in the realm of actual finances than most people would believe. Though you're enormously generous of spirit, you think twice when it comes to your own money or possessions.

While presenting a feeling of charitable open-heartedness, your basic fear of loss keeps you from throwing caution to the winds where extravagance is concerned. You do indulge in speculation; fortunately, your sign is the most likely to benefit from speculation since your luck is outstanding.

Real estate and buildings are very profitable for you. Since you're ambitious with money, you use it to make more, and you generally use it wisely.

Many Sagittarians inherit a great deal of money, though their wealth usually doesn't manifest itself — either earned or inherited — until after the age of 40.

Your eternal optimism is sometimes your downfall in money matters; you will gleefully buy a house you can't afford now because you'll be able to afford it in 5 years when your salary increases substantially. Sometimes it does and sometimes it doesn't. Contrary to what the books may tell you, Sagittarius, you are not really just a few positive steps away from wealth and contentment.

Lasting value is important to you, and you believe firmly in the adage that you get what you pay for.

Good Sagittarian investments: Utilities are good investments for you, and any investment involving animals or sporting goods could also be profitable. You should strive for as much diversification in your investments as possible.

Best time for spending: December 21 to January 21

Best financial advisor: Capricorn

Biggest financial weakness: Exploiting your natural good luck and overspending on recreational equipment.

Gambling tips: You're a good gambler. A Sagittarian team to watch: the Washington Redskins.

Sagittarius corporation: Bethlehem Steel

Profitable hobby: Horses!

SAGITTARIUS CAREER AND WORK

Your sense of purpose and your inevitable good fortune makes you a sought-after employee who invariably becomes the boss — provided, of course, that your zingy conversation doesn't send an arrow to some vital part of the wrong person!

Your outspoken ways generally work against you in a work situation where politics usually count more than abilities. You're the one who tells the boss you don't like his new suit — it never occurred to you to keep quiet but that same honesty is what makes you so valuable to that same boss when a real opinion is needed on a project or on someone who may or may not be hired.

In choosing an occupation, you prefer a large well-established organization; not for you the small-time operation. It's important to you that you don't have to wince when you tell people where you work.

You're enormously fussy about WHO you work for within the company. Like playing tennis with a beginner, you know that working for someone who is not up to your capacity only weakens your own ability, which you guard zealously.

As a boss, you can be conservative; despite your own insistence on freedom for yourself, you usually have a definite number of restrictions on those under you.

You also, in work, have an irritating habit of not always promising what you deliver. Or else you keep people hanging on a cliff wondering if you'll come through. Your expansiveness and eagerness to please prevent you from simply recognizing your own limits, and telling other people what they are.

You're best at jobs that require mental activity, writing and communicating, particularly radio and television. You can be the most eloquent of people when you want to, and though few Sagittarians approach the eloquence of Churchill or of a Mark Twain (both Archers), you generally produce capably in this regard.

Sagittarians have a flair with subordinates that no other sign quite matches. You have an inspirational quality about you. It's rare to find a Sagittarian who isn't liked by the workers under him or her. Despite your sometimes sharp and stinging criticism, people will always say, ". . . but the boss is really a great person." Consequently, turn-over under Sagittarians is lower than other signs.

Best Sagittarian occupations: Law, or anything dealing with the legal profession such as paralegal work, legal secretaries, court reporting, law clerks; clergymen or jobs relating to churches; publishing; advertising; writing, editing; anything dealing with horses or large animals, ranging from owning a stable to veterinary medicine; occupations dealing with foreign travel; teaching (but on the advanced or college levels only).

Decanate specifics: Sagittarians born Nov. 22 - Dec. 1 are the best at teaching positions or positions that require extensive abstract thought. Those of you born Dec. 2 - Dec. 11 are more aggressive and ambitious, frequently champion causes that require force; should you choose a medical career, you would make an excellent surgeon. If you were born Dec. 12 - Dec. 20, you have a dramatic flair good for occupations dealing directly with people or requiring any sense of showmanship.

Best career times: August 21 - September 21 for career success or starting new jobs; Dec. 21 - Jan. 20 for raises or increasing financial potential; April 21 - May 21 for general success on the job.

Best boss: Virgo

Best subordinate: Taurus

Sign to watch out for: Scorpio

Worst career mistake: Gossip

SAGITTARIUS HEALTH

Because of your zest for physical sports, the great outdoors, fresh air, Sagittarians rarely suffer from the diseases that their indoor-loving friends crop up with

You have a great deal of stamina and strength, which means that even if you do succumb to an occasional ailment, your recuperative powers are good and quick. This is no doubt helped by your own positive approach; you don't enjoy poor health!

Your sign rules the hips and thighs, and you're prone to accidents such as broken bones, sprains, strained muscles — usually occurring in the middle of one of your sporting outings.

Your circulation is usually good, because of your physical shape and activity; however, many Sagittarians do worry about blood pressure and need to have it checked on a regular basis.

Sagittarians are also prone to accidents through travel and animals (such as bites, being thrown from horses, etc.) so it's best to use caution in this regard.

You don't give in easily to health problems once you have them, but don't carry that optimism too far — regular check-ups are vital to Jupiter-ruled Archers.

Because Jupiter is closely associated with the liver, Sagittarians need to check any ailments that would cause damage to the organ. Sometimes an over-indulgence on health foods (you're an addict where that's concerned!) is just as dangerous as an over-indulgence on junk food.

Some good health habits:

- Sagittarians should pay close attention to fruits and vegetables. There are fine minerals in fruit and vegetable skins that are essential to your diet. Figs, apples and strawberries apply here.

- No meal is more important to a Sagittarian than breakfast.

- Invest in a health club or a place where you can enjoy good country weekends. Join a riding stable. Buy a horse.

- Sagittarians are prone to eye infections, especially if you were born December 1-11. Eyestrain is a common ailment with you, and allergies frequently result in eye problems.

- Best doctor: Taurus
- Your best sports: track, hurdles, pole-vaulting, walking, golf, horseback-riding.

SAGITTARIANS GOALS HOPES AND WISHES

More than anything else, you want to be loved, and many of the things you have done in life — regardless of the realm of experience — have all dealt with loving and being loved in return. You seek love not for its own sake, but for a higher, more spiritual reason that you find difficult to define yourself.

To understand your pursuit of this objective, it is necessary to understand what kind of Sagittarian you are, and though this would actually require an entire horoscope to judge, some insight is possible through knowing the time you were born.

If you were born between 4 and 6 AM, you are a "double Sagittarian", probably more true to the sign than any other type. You have a universal love for people and a desire to lead them, particularly in a political fashion. Librans can be helpful in reaching your goals.

If you were born between 2 and 4 AM, you have more intensity and passion than the average Sagittarius. This gives perception and awareness not common to your sign. You tend to love what you least understand. Virgo people are good for you.

If you were born between Midnight and 2 AM, you have a gentle, kind approach. You still retain the sharp Sagittarian tongue, however, but are more cautious and discreet in speech towards others. You love what is beautiful. Listen to Leos.

If you were born between 10 PM and Midnight, your love is especially pronounced for your family and home, particularly your parents. You love what feels the most comfortable. Listen to Cancerian's advice.

If born between 8 PM and 10 PM, there is a strong attachment to a child in your life, or to a "child" of your imagination, such as a creative project. You love what you have created. Gemini people can be of assistance to you.

If you were born between 6 PM and 8 PM, you love animals, and would make an excellent veterinarian. You are also well-liked by people who work for you. You have many Taurus friends.

If you were born between 4 PM and 6 PM, your spouse is your prime love interest — or whichever spouse you happen to be married to right now! You love what you feel is equal to you. Aries is the best sign for helping you reach your objectives.

If you were born between 2 PM and 4 PM you love only people, and you tend to confuse love and sex. You'll find Pisceans very inclined to champion your causes.

If you were born between Noon and 2 PM, you generally have an attraction toward philosophical thought, and to people who share common philosophies with you. Aquarius is a good friend.

If you were born between 10 AM and Noon, you are totally in love with your work, your career and your prestige. You are attracted to people who are superior to you. Capricorns understand you best and can help you most.

THE SAGITTARIAN SUBCONSCIOUS

Inside every jovial, optimistic, devil-may-care, arrow-slinging Sagittarian is a trait few people would ever think they'd find in the children of Jupiter.

It's fear of failure.

It's the reason why you try so hard to be loved, the reason you're so terribly surprised when you find someone has been offended by you, the reason that you sometimes go whirling-dervish, like a trapeze artist, oblivious to the men below you gathering up your net and walking away.

The symbol for the Archer shows half-man/half-beast poised for eternity, frozen forever with bow in hand, ready to sling an arrow. If it hits, fine. But if it doesn't All Sagittarians regard their targets with apprehension.

But the nicest thing about being ruled by Jupiter is that you maintain your reputation for finding easy what the rest of the world finds difficult, and for sometimes finding difficult what the rest of the world finds easy.

You'll choose the difficult, whatever the odds, if it's necessary and with whatever tools are at hand. You'll send balloons in the air, optimistic and filled with promise, and send even more when those burst.

For Sagittarius, life will always be a riddle of challenges. It will also — always — be an adventure in hope.

CAPRICORN

December 21 to January 20

RULER: SATURN
SYMBOL: THE GOAT

QUALITY: Cardinal
ELEMENT: Earth

INTRODUCTION

Steadfastness, humor, compassion, outgoing perseverance . . . that's what a Capricorn is all about.

Do not ask how Capricorns got their reputations for being gloomy types, except that in ancient astrology, your ruler, Saturn, was thought to be the real bogey-bear of the zodiac. Granted, you can be pessimistic — but it doesn't keep you from occasionally laughing.

Actually what Saturn gives to Capricorns is your strong sense of discipline. You know instinctively that, as Knute Rockne once said, "when the going gets tough, the tough get going." And you are that: tough, resilient. No matter what problems assail you, no matter what troubles others may create for you, the Capricorn spirit is unsinkable.

The sun sign of Capricorn is divided into three parts of decanates which can give you additional insight into your nature.

Born December 21 to December 31 you fall into the true Capricorn decanate. You're the strongest of the breed, with powerful personalities.

Born January 1 to January 10, you have an additional stubborn streak to the Capricorn perseverance. You're strong physically and have a touch of musical ability.

Born January 11 to January 20, you have some fine analytical abilities and an artistic sense along with a strong perfectionism.

Nature has given Capricorns a good sense of humor as a defense mechanism against those inherent pessimistic attitudes. Consequently, you can charm the socks off anybody who's wearing them, and you laugh readily and easily.

But you never enjoy yourself to the detriment of /our responsibilities. You know all about having a good r me, and you could even teach a Sagittarian what it means to "win friends and influence people."

As a Capricorn, you know all about clocks that strike midnight and pipers that must be paid.

CAPRICORN ROMANCE

There are two kinds of Capricorns when it comes to romance: the exuberant, warm-hearted type who probably has a fire sign like Leo prominent in his or her chart; and the stoic, I'll-win-you-someday type, who invariably charms others to ribbons.

You could be one or the other — or even both. Because trying to pinpoint a Capricorn romantic nature is difficult.

There are a few things that are predictable: just like in others areas of life, you want only the best. If someone wins your affections, they ought to consider themselves honored. You don't bother with just anybody. If the person isn't attractive, he or she will at least be wealthy. There will be something prestigious and obvious about the person before you waste your time.

You're deliberate and slow in courtship. No whirlwinds among the December children. And though Capricorns born January 1-10 are the most passionate, ALL Capricorns have an earthy sensuality that they reveal only to the chosen few.

You're loaded with sex appeal (smoldering, sensual sex appeal like fellow Capricorns Humphrey Bogart and Ava Gardner) but the people you choose to associate with are usually people you've decided are fit companions, as well as people you can be comfortable around. That's vital for you.

YOUR COMPATIBILITY WITH OTHER SIGNS:

With another Capricorn: This can be an interesting match, all the great things that two earth signs can produce together. A stumbling block: both of you are apt to put duty ahead of play — and probably not at the same time!

Aquarius: Aquarians are never given credit for being as stubborn as they are, and though Capricorn tends to dominate this sign, an Aquarian can outlast you if necessary. You might find Aquarians a bit naive, but they have a way of making you feel like a kid again. (Provided you aren't any more.)

Pisces: Pisces will love to cheer you up and make you feel happy. It may take you awhile to realize this sign's innate value and goodness.

Aries: The ram and the goat? Capricorns simply don't move fast enough for Aries, but if the Aries keeps running around in the same circle, Capricorn will keep turning up time and time again as long as Capricorn stays in the same place. Think about it.

Taurus: An ideal arrangement. Both are earth signs, and unless there is something contrary in the horoscope, this could go on and on for a long time.

Gemini: This too is a good match. Geminis have a fun-loving way about them that Capricorns gravitate to. Also, a Gemini can convince you that he or she is special . . . which is a sure-fire magnet for Capricorn.

Cancer: This is an "opposites-attract" match, and usually a good one. Cancer's gentle sensitivity combines well with the Capricorn strength.

Leo: Leo will always be able to attract Capricorn, but Capricorns detest showiness and obvious vanity, so a Leo will have to show restraint.

Virgo: Another good match between two earth signs. Both signs can, however, sometimes take themselves too seriously.

Libra: Libra is always put to the test by Capricorn. It's important that there be good mental understanding.

Scorpio: Trying to outwit a Scorpio is difficult; usually the Scorpio chooses the Capricorn. Capricorns may be a bit mystified with Scorpio, and will resent Scorpio's insistent ways.

Sagittarius: Capricorn's pessimism usually runs afoul with the Sagittarian optimism. Sagittarius loses patience with Capricorn, but these relationships usually start out well.

CAPRICORN MARRIAGE AND FAMILY RELATIONSHIPS

Prior to announcing her upcoming wedding, a Capricorn commented to a friend that she and her fiance had sat down and mapped out their entire married life: who was going to do what, how many children they would have and when, where they would live, what kind of house they both wanted, etc.

Cold?

No. Realistic. And that's how you feel about your marriage and family relationships. Your sure-fire practicality enters into this just like it enters into any other serious relationship. And it's often been said that there would probably be fewer divorces in the world if there were more Capricorns.

Being sure of what sort of situation you're getting into is important to you, and you would think of a marriage the same as you would any business partnership. This, of course, is further enhanced by the fact that most Capricorns marry for some sort of prestige, usually wealth, but occasionally other factors such as an unusually attractive or famous spouse, enter into it.

On the more emotional side, nothing is more important to you than your domestic situation. You probably married young (or wanted to) because you need and seek the security of a home or family. You're a traditionalist, and the family tradition is important to you. If you stray in a marriage, it's only after total rejection by your partner, and even then you stray with the greatest reluctance.

You dislike decision-making in marriage, and you lean on your partner for as much of this as possible. In the interests of maintaining harmony in the household, you will allow your spouse to dominate, even if you do disagree.

It's important to you that your mate is a good parent to your children, and this also explains why Capricorns subconsciously pick spouses that resemble their own parent. Capricorn women marry men who look like their fathers; Capricorn men gravitate to women very much like their mothers. This reinforces the need to have a parent-figure in the household, and also provides you with a strain of the security you knew as a child.

Generally, you marry one who is emotional, home-loving, sensitive — and dominating. Many times the marriage was opposed by your spouse's family, particularly a brother or sister. Your mate should have much intuition and instinctive understanding, since you don't go in much for verbal communication.

Regardless of the family situation, you see yourself as the strength of the family unit. Years from now, when your children are grown, they too may judge the character of others by the character bred in them by you.

Relationships with children:

A Taurus could easily be your favorite child, being an earth sign and being prominent in your solar horoscope. Other earth sign offspring, Capricorns and Virgos, would also be easily favored. Fire-sign children have a boldness to them that a Capricorn has difficulty controlling; this is especially true of Aries. Leo and Sagittarians can also present problems, but to a lesser degree. Capricorns find air signs amusing; you are one of the few parents that can control a restless Gemini offspring and impose the discipline badly needed for that sign. Aquarian children are always surprising you. You would probably find a Libra the most difficult of the air signs to manage. Cancers, Scorpios and Pisceans are all water signs and Capricorns relate surprisingly well to such children. There could be mild conflict with a Cancer, good rapport with a Scorpio and a "good pals"-type friendship with the Pisces.

Your home location:

Capricorns are by nature a cold sign and you would probably find your best vibrations in a place with a predominantly southern exposure. Bright, cheery colors to drive away the Capricorn glooms are also recommended.

CAPRICORN FINANCES

Inside every Capricorn there's a potential millionaire. And there are even a few Capricorns who manage to become just that. (Aristotle Onassis and Howard Hughes.

to name two Capricorn examples.)

However, most Capricorns earn their gold slowly.

You're quite an economist, terribly frugal, and probably realized years ago that if you save $1 a day, you'll have quite a bit at the end of 15 years when you throw in interest.

Your strength in money is that you don't expect luck to come and tap you on the shoulder. You were born knowing that whatever you get has to be earned. And you've done that ever since you can remember.

Capricorns are supposed to be stingy, but that is probably true only if you also have the Moon in Capricorn as well. You tend to spend money on your comforts, and on furthering your own ambition.

You're disciplined about money. You don't just set a budget and forget about it. You work at it — it's part of your disciplined approach.

Best Capricorn investments: Tractor manufacturing companies are a good item for Capricorns to look into when considering stocks.

Best time for spending: January 21 to February 21

Biggest financial weakness: Holding on to a savings account that pays 4½% interest and racking up installment payments at 18% interest.

Gambling tips: This is foreign to your nature. However, you might want to make some friendly neighborhood wagers on a Capricorn team like the San Francisco 49ers.

Capricorn corporation: Westinghouse.

CAPRICORN CAREER AND WORK

For you, not to work is not to live. Your career (you rarely consider it "only a job") is vital to your outward prestige as well as to what you think of yourself. Capricorns have a tendency to identify more with what they do than what they are.

But it makes you a tireless worker, and one who quickly rises to the top because you'll make every sacrifice for the job. In your work, you're amazingly capable of versatility and dexterity that isn't part of your nature in other areas. Your judgment is especially keen, and you can assess facts to a degree that is superior to any other sign.

You're strictly goal-oriented in your work, and you have sense enough to leave a job if it isn't going to get you anywhere. You do not have any "star" hangups, but it's important to you to know that your ambitions are being satisfied, and that you are working towards something bigger and better. Capricorns never ask for over-night success; but they need to know that success is possible in whatever endeavor they execute.

A Capricorn doesn't want glory as much as authority. You like the idea of having authority over others, though you're basically not a bossy type. You simply like to coordinate others in brilliant administration, and you've known for a long time that you're capable of it.

You will always, however, expect to be rewarded accordingly. Capricorns don't come cheap.

The one Capricorn hold-back in career success is conservative thinking. You sometimes insist on doing things the hard way, as if it's vital and necessary, ignoring quicker ways of achieving career goals.

Some typical Capricorn occupations: Real estate, politics, law, the arts, dance instructing, banking and finance. mathematics, building, apartment management, landscaping, dentistry, civil service, grain production, police force, the military, geology, archeology, architecture. hardware, labor relations, conservation occupations. chiropractory, chambers of commerce.

Decanate specifics: Born Dec. 21-Dec. 31 you are the most disciplined of the sign and have the greatest capacity for leadership and administrative jobs. If you were born January 1 to January 10, you're the creative Capricorn and must have jobs that provide some sort of creative outlet. Born January 11-January 20, you're the fiercer type, the best crusader and the most skilled in communication.

Best career times: Sept. 21 to Oct. 21 for career recognition and for beginning a new job; May 21 to June 21 for general career advancement; and January 21 to February 21 for raises or for financial success.

Best boss: Libra

Best subordinate: Gemini

Sign to watch out for: Sagittarius

Worst career mistake: Defeatist attitudes

CAPRICORN HEALTH

As a Capricorn, you've got the monopoly on a long life. Most Capricorns survive well into their 80's and beyond.

However, along with the longevity comes a tendency to have long illnesses. You don't recuperate easily from anything, whether it's a common cold or a broken bone.

Capricorns are sensitive to diseases and fractures of the bones and joints — and especially the kneecap. However, you usually have a strong bone system. In later years, you can have problems relating to the joints, such as arthritis.

You are also susceptible to skin diseases (like eczema) and this is particularly true if your diet is lacking in certain important elements.

Some good Capricorn health habits:

- Stock up on calcium, particularly calcium phosphate, whether in foods that contain it or in tablet form. Calcium is good for the bones and can also avert skin problems.

- Concentrate on your best herbs: garlic, dill, clove, sage are just a few.

- Your sedentary ways can sometimes cause you to look and feel sluggish. Take up some sports that your sign has an affinity with: jogging, yoga, mountain-climbing, track, dancing, skating, softball, bowling.

- There's no point in telling a Capricorn not to work hard. You will anyway. However, you must learn to accept the fact that many of your ailments can be attributed to your all-work-and-no-play routines.

- You're susceptible to a number of diseases that originate with the teeth. That's why dental check-ups are important.

- Make your meals from vegetables and fruits in your own garden. You're an earth sign.

CAPRICORN GOALS HOPES AND WISHES

The keyword for Capricorn is "I use". And this is basic to your goals in life. Capricorn wants prestige, authority over others, recognition and status. And the method for achieving it lies in the phrase "I use."

A further study of your attitudes toward your goals can be seen in your birth time. Though this is an approximate review, it can provide knowledge.

If you were born between 4 AM and 6 AM, you are a double Capricorn. This gives you unusually strong drive — stronger than the average Capricorn — and makes your ambition standards even higher. You're a born achiever. Scorpio individuals can be helpful.

If you were born between 2 AM and 4 AM, you are a highly outgoing individual, much more talkative and adventurous than some of your other Capricorn friends. You can find good friendship with Libra individuals.

If you were born between Midnight and 2 AM, you wish to use every experience — and your experiences are considerable — to further your ambitions. You leave no stone unturned if it will mean increasing your status, and this can range from going out of your way to meet the right people to going to the ends of the earth on an off-beat expedition. You should cultivate Virgo people.

If you were born between 10 PM and Midnight, beautiful surroundings are important to you, and you tend to use them to increase your status and further your ambitions. Best friend: Leo.

If you were born between 8 PM and 10 PM, you don't have too terribly much drive and you're slightly indulgent . . . and sensuous. You tend to use the opposite sex to further your own ambitions. Cancers can help you considerably.

If you were born between 6 PM and 8 PM you have a need to shine in the public light solely on the basis of your personality. Geminis can be good associates.

If you were born between 4 PM and 6 PM, you have a strong desire for a prestigious union, marriage or partnership and for public recognition. This usually comes through a spouse. Taurus can provide some good advice.

If you were born between 2 PM and 4 PM, you are something of a butterfly. Settling down is hard for you, and your ambition is simply to have a good time.

If you were born between Noon and 2 PM, you have a strong determination and an equally strong endurance. Pisceans understand you and your ambitions.

If you were born between 10 AM and Noon, you are a true force to be reckoned with. This position gives you the drive to be first and to dominate others. You wish to be in some capacity that brings you glory. You are not particularly concerned with other people or their needs. However you do rely on others, especially Aquarians.

If you were born between 8 and 10 AM, you are more vulnerable than most Capricorns but certainly more mysterious and more romantic. Your ambition is recognition through service and helping others. You relate well to other Capricorns.

If you were born between 6 AM and 8 PM, you are less conventional than most Capricorns with a more adventurous bent to your nature. You can also be naive. You have a generous spirit which could be considerably appreciated by a Sagittarius.

THE CAPRICORN SUBCONSCIOUS

All Capricorns seem to have some secret that they don't share with the rest of the world.

But that's the way suppressed hope sometimes manifests itself. And you are, deep down, a hopeful sign, even though few people would realize it, clouded as it is in your pessimistic attitudes. It must have been a Capricorn who slammed the lid shut on Pandora's box and retained this one element that could possibly save mankind after all the other evils had reaped their harvest.

Every Capricorn outwardly prepares for the worst because inwardly you're expecting the best. This is so automatic it can cause strange conflicts in you that you may not even realize.

For you, the sunrise means a brand new day that's never been touched, and maybe it'll be better than the one before. For you, there must be, in some cobwebbed corner of the world, some strength that will "make things right again." For you, there is always some small love left somewhere that is worth enduring "the fever called living" as Capricorn Edgar Allan Poe once described it.

The Capricorn hope is the promise of a Christmas morning, the lilt of a child's laughter, a puppy's first discovery of life, the sweetness of early spring.

And it may be why you work as hard as you do and climb to the summits so instinctively. You, of all the signs, believe that there may just be something up there worth knowing about.

AQUARIUS

January 21 to February 19

RULER: URANUS

QUALITY: Fixed

SYMBOL: THE WATER BEARER

INTRODUCTION

As an Aquarian, your stock and trade is to keep the world in a perpetual state of surprise. Ruled by Uranus, the most unpredictable planet in the heavens in terms of human effects, you combine the intellectual change of an air sign with a fixed temperament and firm, unaltering opinions.

And even though the combination can be fascinating, you are probably the most difficult sign of all to understand because no one is ever sure how you will react on a matter. Will it be with the logical approach that typifies an air sign? Or will it be with the firmness of a fixed sign?

It doesn't bother you at all, of course. Many times you're secretly amused that no one quite knows how you will react. The clue to understanding you is to figure out how you see yourself. Aquarians usually have fixed images of themselves and their reactions are what will suit the image the best.

Aquarius is often considered a humanitarian sign. You are very much concerned with social causes, though not so much with the individual problems as with the effect on society as a group.

You don't empathize with individuals; if a friend complains about a problem, you either say nothing or you talk about the social significance of it.

You're a highly positive person; most Aquarians live in a perpetual state of optimism and you don't really dwell on negative things.

The Aquarian sun sign can be defined in terms of decanates or divisions.

If you were born January 21 to January 31, you're the most unpredictable of the Aquarian element. You have found many separations in your lifetime, particularly from loved ones, and this has made you more mature at an earlier age than most.

Born February 1 to February 9, you are highly original with considerable charm and an almost dedication to having a good time, to the exclusion of your responsibilities. People born during this time have to watch their health in later years.

If you were born February 10 to February 19, you have an enormous amount of judgment. Most of the Aquarian achievers are born during this decanate.

FAMOUS AQUARIUS PERSONALITIES

Charles Lindbergh	Clark Gable
John Barrymore	Norman Rockwell
Eartha Kitt	Sinclair Lewis
Jules Verne	Jerome Kern
Abraham Lincoln	Adlai Stevenson
Galileo	Mia Farrow
Paul Newman	Kim Novak
Leontyne Price	Ronald Reagan
Franklin Roosevelt	Thomas Edison
George Burns	Charles Darwin
Charles Dickens	Vanessa Redgrave
Lewis Carroll	Wolfgang A. Mozart

CITIES INCORPORATED UNDER THE SIGN OF AQUARIUS

Salem, Oregon	Dallas, Texas
Milwaukee, Wisconsin	Tucson, Arizona
Topeka, Kansas	Louisville, Kentucky
New Orleans, Louisiana

AQUARIAN ROMANCE

You never truly seem committed in any romantic relationship, unless it's getting ready to be marriage. And even then, the person is probably as much of a good friend as a loved one, probably having learned correctly that the only permanent relationship an Aquarian tolerates is friendship.

Aquarians enjoy a healthy series of brief, intense romances, and then you find yourself flitting on to someone else. Your approach to most romantic relationships is somewhat heartless: you get extravagant attachments, pick people up, squeeze the life out of them, and then drop them as abruptly as you found them. The final scene usually occurs after an argument that you've provoked to have a heated excuse for ending things immediately.

Aquarius usually loves what he or she can't have. You have a knack for approaching the people who are either rungs above you socially, married, or in some other way forbidding. And the worse these people treat you, the better. This is essentially because you're attracted to unemotional people.

Being an air sign, there has to be a logical appeal to you about the people you become involved with. Also being an air sign, you are apt to be the eternal courtier if you decide not to marry. Aquarians past 70 still keep their renowned interest in the opposite sex.

YOUR COMPATIBILITY WITH OTHER SIGNS:

With another Aquarius: This is a good match because of the independence and freedom-loving instincts that you both share.

Capricorn: Capricorn's lack of emotion may appeal to you, particularly since a Capricorn will always have something about them that makes them seem worth the effort of investigating.

Pisces: Some Pisceans have a clinging-vine way about them that turns Aquarius off. But because of your air sign qualities, you are usually attracted to unusual sources of strength, and Pisceans can be like that.

Aries: An Aries makes an excellent friend to Aquarius and as I said before, that's a big point in favor. Aries also has a "love me or leave me" quality and seems ruthless. This appeals to Aquarius.

Taurus: Though these signs are not traditionally compatible, the contrast is always interesting. Aquarius is a fixed air sign and Taurus is a fixed earth sign. So there is bound to be a conflict of wills, with the Taurean realism usually the victor.

Gemini: Since these are both air signs, there is good compatibility here, based on mutual intellectual respect. This would be especially true if the Aquarian has the Moon in Gemini. However, a permanent union is usually too much to expect; with both signs, there has to be someone to insist on marriage and neither sign is known to take the initiative in matters like that.

Cancer: Cancers have a subservient quality to Aquarians, and make excellent subordinates. They can also count on the fact that that will be their role in any romantic relationship.

Leo: These are opposites, and there can be quite a bit of interest here. Leo however represents many of the values that Aquarius tends to oppose, or at least pays lip service to opposing. Leo's drama and elegance will fascinate Aquarius anyway.

Virgo: There is good mental communication here, but not much else. Virgo seeks perfection on a more mundane level than Aquarius.

Libra: Libra is another air sign that probably blends better with Aquarius for the simple reason that Libra can be anything anybody wants it to be. Libra's adaptability would be put to the test in such a relationship, but there is harmony here anyway.

Scorpio: Scorpios have a dominant quality for Aquarians, and usually take an interest in Aquarius. Scorpio is one of the few signs that thoroughly understands Aquarius. Whether the relationship works usually depends on whether Scorpio likes what it finds.

Sagittarius: This is a good, free-spirited relationship, and a fine friendship as well. Sagittarius is one of the better signs for Aquarius.

AQUARIUS MARRIAGE AND FAMILY RELATIONSHIPS

To give up that Uranian love for freedom and independence, an Aquarian must be very much in love. Most Aquarians usually marry late in life (or later than other friends and relatives), and you generally choose someone who is as good a friend as a potential mate. Aquarians don't like being dependent on anybody and are very evasive emotionally.

You do not care much for responsibility, and your spouse is usually someone reasonably dominant and probably attractive. You see your mate as an alter ego, and you are especially proud of his or her accomplishments. Aquarians love to brag on their families. You tend to attract devoted mates, and you believe that your spouse should have the same freedom you have and like yourself.

Most Aquarian marriages are solid institutions, because an Aquarian doesn't usually rush into something like this. You're an Air Sign, which means there has to be a rationale behind any emotional attachment; it has to be something you've convinced yourself is a good idea.

Regarding other family relationships, an Aquarian almost always has some family member (parent, aunt, uncle) who is unusually devoted. (Remember Aquarian Franklin Roosevelt's steadfast devotion to his mother?) Aquarian in-laws are usually gentle and peaceful people.

Relationship with children:

You are good friends with your children and highly concerned about them. You are also inclined to fear for them too much. You believe in giving your children the freedom to grow. You pay undue attention to the educational and mental growth of your offspring, and usually aren't aware that there are other areas of growth that need developing. Emotional problems can either go ignored or unrecognized, unless you are married to a water sign (Cancer, Pisces, Scorpio). You relate best to a Gemini child, and other air signs — Libra and another Aquarius — also provide good parent/child relationships; there is good mental rapport anyway. With the earth signs, you're apt to have problems with a Taurus child, and better relationships with Virgo and Capricorn children. Fire signs can intimidate an Aquarian parent; Leo, Sagittarius and Aries strike you as being challenges to raise. Water sign offspring are relatively good for Aquarian parents: Cancers have subservient qualities to their Aquarian protectors, Scorpions command an Aquarian's respect, though you tend to treat Pisces as a possession rather than a person.

Your home location:

Aquarians thrive best in homes with southeast exposures, and most of your homes are usually notable for their elaborate TV and stereo equipment, as well as built-in additives to the house, usually with some entertainment value. You thrive in a hodge-podge of colors, and there's rarely a "dominant color" in an Aquarian home. Plaids and prints are paramount instead. If an Aquarian had to choose only one color to live with, however, it would be green.

AQUARIAN FINANCES

There's no sign in the zodiac quite as impractical as Aquarius when it comes to money. You just don't care that much about money itself, and you have very little financial ambition. Aquarius is frequently caught short. You probably have little or no savings, dislike investing, gamble frequently, and stay over-drawn at the bank. You also could care less about your credit rating.

You're the original "soft touch." People know that what little money you have you are more than willing to share if not naively abandon. Naturally you never ask for interest on a loan to a friend. You never even ask that it be paid back, and you rarely hold it against anybody if they don't. This does, however, somehow come back to you, as if you have a special guardian angel that makes sure everything comes out equal for you. Heaven has a way of taking care of Aquarians.

You spend money on dreams and schemes. The investment element to fit never bothers you. You rarely ask for anything in writing, which is why Aquarius should always have some sort of financial advisor around at all times.

You're generous and charitable, and probably have a charity or philanthropic interest to which you contribute regularly.

Your best sources of income are from foundations and institutions, and Aquarius is unusually lucky in receiving stipends and scholarships from such groups. As far as your regular salary goes, you probably aren't motivated for money, and if someone else in the same office does less and makes more money, it would irritate you but not enough to do anything about it.

Aquarius should always scrutinize documents and contracts before signing. And you should never make out your own will.

Best Aquarian investments: Research and development companies, and anything to do with advanced electrical engineering.

Best time for spending: February 21 to March 21

Best financial advisor: Pisces

Biggest financial weakness: Hair-brained schemes brought up by hair-brained friends.

Gambling tips: Aquarian teams include the Green Bay Packers, the Minnesota Vikings and the Cincinnati Reds.

Aquarius corporation: General Foods

Profitable Aquarian hobby: Rebuilding TV sets: reading tarot cards.

AQUARIUS CAREER AND WORK

Unlike your Capricorn and Taurus friends, you could care less about reaching the top in a career situation. You'd rather roam the beaches, enjoy your independence and freedom, and not be shackled by obligations and conformities that success usually means.

When you do achieve, it's always with the help of a mentor, somebody within your field of interest who champions your cause and guides your career. You're no blind sheep, however, and even give your mentors a hard time when they're only trying to make something of you!

The people are what keeps you working at whatever field you are in. If you have bad job relationships, you'll leave as quickly as possible. Working for a boss you like, having subordinates you like — it's all important to you.

You're a job-hopper. Service pins and gold watches and profit sharing are meaningless to you. Aquarius never thinks about growing old.

Though you're concerned with subordinates, and worry about whether they are making enough money to live on, etc., you aren't interested in them as individuals. You are probably more interested in them as "victims" of this or that. If someone presents a personal problem to you, you'll nearly always relate it to its sociological significance.

If fired or pressured to quit, an Aquarian will want to go out as a martyr to the cause. Blaze of glory, that's you. Aquarius.

The limelight is important to you in a job, and you build up your accomplishments whether they deserve it or not. This is one of the reasons why you rarely seek higher posts; you can coast for years because somebody told you the pencils were always sharpest when you sharpened them.

You're friendly, and you ought to be in jobs that require people contact.

Best Aquarian occupations: Research, medicine, occult interests, furniture salesmen, inventors, aviators and pilots, stewards and stewardesses, automobile and airplane mechanics, electricians, electrical engineers, social service workers, radio and TV workers, writers, medical research, civic leaders, astronomers.

Decanate specifics: Born January 21 to January 31, you are more inclined to go into those fields that are science-oriented. This decanate can be highly inventive. Born February 1 to February 9, you would be excellent in the field of radio/television journalism. Born February 10 to February 19, you're the most artistic of the sign; you also have a strong bent for law, particularly in the defense of minorities or civil rights causes.

Best career times: October 21 to November 21 for career recognition and changing jobs; June 21 to July 20 for general career success; February 21 to March 21 for financial gains on the job.

Best boss: Scorpio

Best subordinate: Cancer

Sign to watch out for: Capricorn

Worst career mistake: Lethargy

AQUARIUS HEALTH

Aquarians have a way of becoming lax in health habits, especially as they grow older. You're especially prone to serious overweight, brought on by compulsive overeating.

Aquarius rules the ankles, and ankles and calves can bring problems in your health regime. Muscle spasms are frequent, especially if you are in athletics.

You also suffer from nervous afflictions and can have various circulation problems.

Occasionally you have headaches and ear problems which cause balance disorders and dizziness.

Fortunately, you're interested in nutrition. You follow every fad diet that comes along until you find one you like

Good Aquarian health habits:

- Give your body a chance to recuperate when you are ill! Aquarians HATE lying in bed idle and waiting to heal. You usually push yourself too soon after an illness. You spend much of your time recuperating from relapses brought on by your insistence on getting out of bed too soon.

- Salt is good for you, provided your doctor has not put you on a no-salt diet.

- Best Aquarian herbs are parsley and rosemary, and you should use them in main dish seasonings whenever possible.

- Your best exercises are those that build up ankle strength: walking, jogging, golf.

- Good Aquarian foods are carrots and asparagus

- Your best doctor: a Cancerian.

AQUARIAN GOALS HOPES AND WISHES

There are a number of things you want out of life — approval of others, the good life for everyone — but your over-riding hope and wish is independence, and your objectives are whatever it takes to reach this state.

The independence that is so much a part of the Aquarian nature can be understood by the time of day when you were born.

If you were born between 4 AM and 6 AM, you are a double Aquarian, and you seek some sort of relief from domination by others. If married, you are probably attracted to your domineering mate, but it's likely that you will marry several times before reaching a state with someone else that you consider independence and freedom. Best helper: Sagittarius.

If you were born between 2 AM and 4 AM, you seek freedom from your own limitations. You are a rather solemn personality, beset with worries that cause you to feel held back. Take counsel from Scorpio.

If you were born between Midnight and 2 AM, you want to ignore as much responsibility as possible so as to be free to roam in whatever direction you like. This is a "flower-child" position and a deeply religious one. Librans can be helpful.

If you were born between 10 PM and Midnight, you want to break through the shackles of limited experience. You feel deprived and left out when you hear of others having experience that you have wanted and not had. You are highly intuitive with either latent or developed extra-sensory perception. Virgos make fortunate friends.

If you were born between 8 PM and 10 PM, you wish to have the independence of artistic expression more than anything else. You're a highly creative personality and an attractive person. Listen to the Leos who come into your life.

If you were born between 6 PM and 8 PM, you can sometimes be your own worst enemy. You criticize a great deal, and in turn get criticized back severely. You also feel subservient, even though this is a clue for you to becoming independent. Cancers make excellent friends.

If you were born between 4 PM and 6 PM, you feel like you must be free of emotional dependency before you'll ever be truly independent. You can count on at least three marriages or unions with this position, and some helpful Gemini friends along the way.

If you were born between 2 PM and 4 PM, you feel that if you could just find someone to support you and look after you, then you'd truly be independent and on your own and able to do all the things you want to do. The contradiction has never occurred to you, though a Taurus friend might point it out.

If you were born between Noon and 2 PM, you always feel free and independent, even if you are limited by an inability to concentrate on any one thing. However, this shouldn't be too much of a problem, since you feel freedom is superior to concentration anyway. This position is excellent for teaching, though it's not likely you'd stay in one spot for a long time. You relate well to Aries people

If you were born between 10 AM and Noon, you have a very strong leadership position. You probably ignore it, however, and concentrate on leading an indulgent life. You're easily frustrated and have had goals thwarted in the past. A Pisces can help you reach them in the future

If you were born between 8 AM and 10 AM, you like nothing better than to work hard to reach goals. This is a good position for an Aquarius, since it gives more ambition and drive than you would ordinarily be born with. Other Aquarians are helpful.

If you were born between 6 AM and 8 AM, you feel that you have been held back a great deal in life, and that much of what you should be recognized for has gone unnoticed. Your biggest hotline to independence is to attach yourself to someone who respects you, like a sympathetic Capricorn.

AQUARIUS SUBCONSCIOUS ATTITUDES

In the sociable bubble that all members of your sign travel in, few people notice the Aquarian's subtle preoccupation with purpose, and unconscious worry about their own destinies.

To an Aquarius, this is a thorn in the side, because — unless you have a strong Leo or Gemini placement in your chart — you do not like worrying about what's going to happen to you. You're fascinated with others, with humanity as a group, and the idea that you have to establish yourself and prove your own identity is foreign to the Water-Bearer's nature.

For many Aquarians, their place in the sun has been achieved because someone else — a good friend — gave them direction and used their force to see that the Aquarius followed it. Oddly enough, this is rarely a member of your family; it almost always has to come from the outside.

Occasionally, you might sit down and plot your own path, just like a Capricorn would, and follow each step until you reach what you want. And sometimes you succeed.

Oddly enough, others looking for their own purpose have found it because of the inspiration, if not the direction, of the Aquarians.

There will always be those who are what they are because you loved them enough to help make it so.

PISCES

February 19 to March 20

RULER: NEPTUNE
SYMBOL: THE FISH

QUALITY: Mutable
ELEMENT: Water

INTRODUCTION

A certain Piscean had been watched for a long time in a dictatorship country where he was considered unfriendly to the government. Though he had been assured he would not be imprisoned, he announced one morning to his wife that he was leaving the country, immediately, on the next plane. Which he did.

The very next day, soldiers invaded his home, claimed it for the government, and — had his wife not been a citizen of another country and subject to diplomatic protection — would have imprisoned the entire family.

Extra-sensory perception?

In another sign it would be. But Pisceans are born with a radar all their own. If you're a Pisces, you "know things", you "sense things." There's a subtle emotional quality to your soul that affects nearly everything you do.

This quality gives you a fine compassion. Pisceans are the most sympathetic people of all, even to the point of loving what you feel sorry for. You're a strong advocator of kindness to animals — even the human variety.

And this quality of yours can also make you ultra-sensitive. You're easily hurt no matter how thick a shell you may show to the rest of the world. You'll choose to be alone many times rather than subject yourself to the stings and abuses of other people.

Pisceans are wonderfully adaptable and this makes you less angry in life than others, because you have fewer frustrations. It almost makes it difficult for you to establish your own direction, discipline your children, or take command of a situation when you see that it's taking command of you — and that's especially true if loved ones are involved.

To further understand your Piscean sign, you should know the division or decanate of this sign in which you were born.

Born February 19 to February 28, you have a fine spiritual quality about you, and you can sometimes appear distant to family and friends. Born February 29 to March 9 you have a more pronounced emotional quality, a good sense of the absurd and a better need for security than the average Piscean. Born March 10 to March 20, you're a powerful, somewhat hypnotic personality and your instincts are highly developed.

PISCEAN ROMANCE

You have the kind of romantic approach that they write books about. You're the ultimate when it comes to remembering birthdays, anniversaries, and when you're in love you perform the kindest thing of all: you wrap your loved one in illusion and give him or her qualities not always real.

It isn't necessary to you to have anything in common with anybody you love. There's a karmic, spiritual attraction that suffices. As a rule, you like fairly gentle types, and also as a rule you tend to let them dominate you. The fact that one person could be both is understandable, to a Pisces, anyway.

You tend to have long-term affairs with people you feel sorry for. Nonetheless you are demanding in an undemanding sort of way.

Pisceans are notoriously bad judges of the opposite sex in their youth, and some never outgrow their inability to spot character.

YOUR COMPATIBILITY WITH OTHER SIGNS:

With another Pisces: Good. Highly illusionary, and the romance is dependent on other factors in the horoscope.

Aries: Pisces' need for quiet chats and fireplaces will interfere with the Aries love of parties and crowds. Aries wants to be seen.

Taurus: There is a bond here, based primarily on an understanding of spiritual qualities. It makes for a sensitive sort of earthiness and can be memorable.

Gemini: Though these two mutable signs are not compatible sun-sign wise, it doesn't take many more good factors in the horoscope to make them so. There's a dualism to both signs.

Cancer: Both water signs, and well-matched. Cancer can be more practical, however, but Pisces usually dominates.

Leo: This is a master/slave relationship, with guess-who being the slave.

Virgo: Opposites attract. Pisces is usually agreeable to Virgo demands.

Libra: This has a good karmic attraction, and Pisces always feels like he and Libra knew each other somewhere before.

Scorpio: Probably the best combination, a blending of instinct and intuition. Both are water signs.

Sagittarius: Sagittarius has a thing about spirituality, and so does Pisces. Sagittarius will take Pisces underwing, but Pisces could find Sagittarius underfoot. The relationship usually doesn't last too long.

Capricorn: Pisces are impressionable and Capricorn's pessimism can only increase their lack of confidence. A Pisces usually suffers in this relationship, but it can be sweet while it lasts.

Aquarius: Excellent match, provided Pisces isn't too giving.

PISCES MARRIAGE AND FAMILY RELATIONSHIPS

Since you find great spiritual strength in tradition, you honor the family establishment. In some Piscean cases, that could even be several family establishments; Pisceans are notorious for marrying several times — once in their youth, for less spiritual reasons; and again, later for a more lasting union.

A Pisces generally does not have many children; a family of three would be considered unusually large. You can be highly critical of your family, too.

Your spouse is usually attractive, given to perfectionist ways, and talkative. You also play slave to him or her on occasion, which is how they hooked you in the first place: the more demands they placed on you, the more akin to them that you felt. Most Pisceans will cheerfully admit that their spouses did the proposing.

You generally have little communication with your in-laws and there's a very distant relationship there.

You seek strength from the family unit, and sometimes you place too much emphasis on it. You have highly conservative ways about the way spouses and children should act, and you're insulted and disappointed if things don't turn out that way. However, you naturally expect your family to understand YOUR unconservative ways.

Relationships with children:

Your favorite child would probably be a Cancer, as you relate well to water signs. Running close-seconds would be Scorpio and another Pisces. You find fire signs uncontrollable at times: an Aries strikes you as too secretive, Sagittarius as too head-strong, and Leo as too subservient and not strong enough. (This is actually a ploy — Leo children have a way of not being what they seem to be to a Pisces parent.) You're enormously proud of your air-sign children because of their great mental qualities a Gemini will put up fine intellectual arguments, and somehow manage to stay out of reach of your own views; Aquarius will have a good understanding of your intuition, and Libra offspring will rank as close to you as your Cancerians. Earth sign children seem too practical for you, and unable to relate to the things that seem important to you. This includes Taurus, Capricorn and Virgo, though you'll have good friendships with your Capricorns

Your home location:

Southeast locations are best for Pisceans, and there should always be some sort of lake, pond, sea or river nearby. A Pisces always likes to know that a major body of water is nearby. The dominant color in happy Piscean homes is usually blue, green or aquamarine — colors of the sea.

PISCES FINANCES

The best way to describe a Piscean in terms of finances is extravagant responsibility.

You like the best, and you KNOW the best. Other people's standards are always only bits of knowledge as far as a Neptune person is concerned; you're the final judge of what is IT and what isn't. Pisceans know instinctively what the better things of life are and whether they should be bought, rented, or stolen. (Unlike a Virgo, you cultivate this knowledge.)

You spend, spend, spend and then — snap! — you cut it off. A Piscean ALWAYS knows his or her limits. Pisceans rarely even use credit cards, and if you do, you can tell at any given moment how much you owe on each one. Not by sheer mathematical genius — Pisceans haven't time for that — but simply by another ploy of your incredible intuition.

It has often been said that a Pisces' destiny is to make — and lose — a fortune in his or her lifetime. Pisceans seem to know this, too. No Piscean ever acts as if his or her wealth were permanent; only a February offspring knows how reliable and how constant change is. Besides, money isn't that important to you. You've had it and you've not had it. Unlike Sophie Tucker, who once said, "I've been rich and I've been poor and rich is better" a Piscean would simply say, "I've been rich and I've been poor and neither really matters."

Best Piscean investments: Boating and oil companies, film-making and photographic companies.

Best time for spending: March 21 to April 21

Best financial advisor: Aries

Biggest financial weakness: Secret stock market tips. They excite you.

Gambling tips: Detroit Tigers and Los Angeles Dodgers are both Piscean teams.

Pisces corporations: American Telephone and Telegraph

Profitable Piscean hobby: Aquariums

PISCES CAREER AND WORK

Since all any Pisces wants to do really is philosophize, you are no doubt fairly unhappy in your work. It bores you, but you probably can't think of anything else you'd rather do. And it's a pity that in this world there are no openings for junior executive philosophers.

Pisceans are impractical in preparing for a career. You live a fantasy life, and though it doesn't approach the Walter Mitty category, very few occupations other than acting or some form of the religious life would offer an outlet for this fantasy.

Therefore, it's rare to find a Pisces in an executive position, and even if you are, you got there by sheer luck. Fortunately, God looks out for Pisceans. You're incredibly lucky in your work. Actually this is more to do with your intuition. Unlike Scorpio, your other water-sign counterpart, you aren't that much on instinct as to what's right for you. But you're way ahead of even Scorpio when it comes to determining the right time, or what others are going to do that can ultimately be to your benefit.

You see yourself as a benevolent dictator over subordinates. You're kindly and sympathetic and understanding and rarely challenge them. You do, however, protect them against other forces within your environment. This is appreciated, and you are for the most part loved.

You have great ambition to succeed once you do find yourself in a niche. You aren't after power or even money but it's important to you to prove your own worth to yourself. Thus, you are rarely satisfied on the job since you are colored by a variety of complexes within you.

Pisces occupations: Pharmacy, medicine (anesthesiology and psychiatry are good Piscean fields), nursing, librarian, museum curator, anything that involves working alone, the arts, education, travel, religion, writing, astronomy, the occult, design (interior and fashion), photography, private investigating, the theatre, anything involving boats and water, x-ray technology.

Decanate specifics: Those of you born February 19 to February 29 are going to do best in careers involving science or things that are difficult to understand; born

February 29 to March 9, you have a stronger emotional quality, and do well in jobs that have a creative bent to them or involve people contact; born March 10 to March 20, you're going to succeed admirably at nearly anything you undertake — provided you decide that it's important.

Best career times: November 21 to December 21 for changing jobs and for recognition for achievement; July 21 to August 21 for general career advancement; March 21 to April 21 for raises or asking for raises.

Best boss: Sagittarius

Best subordinate: Leo

Sign to watch out for: Aquarius

PISCES HEALTH

A newborn Pisces, afflicted with colic, was the bane of his mother's existence. When he cried — which was often and constant — she would do everything imaginable to make him comfortable. Then one day she leaned over and gently tapped him on the foot. The crying ceased. The infant reared up as much as he was capable of and gave her a wild look of indignation. He may have been her first baby, the look said, but NOBODY, absolutely NOBODY, tampers with a Piscean foot without permission.

And that's one of the more vulnerable areas of the body as far as a Pisces is concerned. Your feet are very sensitive, and you're subject to numerous ailments because of them. It has often been said — and probably correctly — that foot specialists have grown rich off their Piscean trade.

Feet aren't the only problem a Pisces encounters. You're vulnerable to other people's illnesses, which is why a Piscean doctor probably takes longer than most to build up immunity to the illnesses of his or her patients.

You are also subject to vague heart problems, especially if the sign Leo is prominent in your total horoscope pattern. Heart ailments can be brought on by hypertension, another Pisces problem, and can generally be attributed to the Pisces tendency to worry too much.

Pisces have to be extremely careful about prescription drugs. Your sign has more drug reactions than any other sign, and you are also — for some reason — subject to drug-switching problems: that is, when a pharmacist incorrectly fills a doctor's prescription for you.

Your cures have a great deal to do with the confidence you have in your doctor. And if a physician can appeal to you on a mental basis, half the battle is won.

Some good Piscean health habits:

- Invest in some health spa water. There is usually a source available in most areas for a small charge.
- Your best herbs are clove and nutmeg. The nutmeg is great even sprinkled over a brandy-drenched eggnog.
- Look to your element — water — for the most pleasurable sports: swimming, scuba diving, water-skiing, fishing.
- Best doctor: Leo

PISCES GOALS HOPES AND WISHES

Nothing is more important to you than increasing your own self-esteem, since you suffer badly from the lack of confidence in yourself that was instilled sometime in your youth. You are constantly trying to prove your own worth not so much to others as to yourself.

How you accomplish this has a great deal to do with your time of birth.

If you were born between 4 AM and 6 AM, you have strong leadership qualities, and people regard you as a gentle, but strong, force. You know how to assert your personality, though you prefer to be alone most of the time. It helps to have a Capricorn friend.

If you were born between 2 AM and 4 AM, you have a need to acquire great wealth, and possessions are a way you have of asserting yourself. Listen to a Sagittarius friend.

If you were born between Midnight and 2 AM, you have a fine literary ability, and see education as a means of increasing your self esteem. You probably own every self-help book ever printed, and you regard them as providing you with a considerable learning experience. A friendship with a Scorpio could be another learning experience.

If you were born between 10 PM and Midnight, your home is your castle. Family and background are both important to you, and you put a great deal of stock in your roots. Best friend: Libra

If you were born between 8 PM and 10 PM, you look to your children as an establishment of your worth. You feel that they have provided you with a reason for being and you encourage them constantly in their endeavors. You're also very creative yourself, and you seek to exploit this channel. A Virgo person will be interested in your progress.

If you were born between 6 PM and 8 PM, you engage in much service to others. This somehow makes you feel better about yourself. Leos are valuable associates.

If you were born between 4 PM and 6 PM, you seek your confidence from your spouse. You marry one who somehow serves you. Look to a Cancerian for assistance in reaching your objectives.

If you were born between 2 PM and 4 PM, you are beset with financial trappings and seek security in them, such as stocks, etc. A Gemini person can teach you a lot about living.

If you were born between 10 AM and Noon, your career and success are very important to you. You are also proud of your heritage since you probably had prominent parents. An Aries individual will be interested in your goals.

If you were born between 8 AM and 10 AM, you seek your security from your friends. This is also an excellent birth time for making wishes come true. Cultivate Aquarians.

If you were born between 6 AM and 8 AM, you tend to be alone most of the time, accomplishing things that will hopefully bring satisfaction. Another Pisces will understand your ways.

THE PISCAN SUBCONSCIOUS

To be The Fish is to want to be free . . . not free in the gad-about way of a Gemini or the irresponsible way of an Aquarian, but free in a very strong spiritual sense . . . free in one's soul.

Ever notice the symbol of your sign? It's two fish, both heading in opposite directions. And though this symbolizes the Piscean dualism, it also symbolizes your urge to discover all sorts of avenues that could lead to the freedom you desire. Consequently you are constantly into one project and then another in search of something that will give you the upliftment you've sought since birth.

The happiest Pisceans around are the ones who have somehow managed to discover that material things don't matter, that love is the only emotion worth retaining, that there really is an order of things and they are an integral part of it.

Pisceans are never embittered or beaten by troubles. You're the only sign of the zodiac that is always strengthened by adversity. The weaker members of your sign are the ones who have not had to go to the front lines and show the kind of stuff that they are really made of.

Those of you who have — those of you who have been through hell and lived not only to tell about it but to laugh about it — you are the ones who march to your own drum-beat and love every minute of it.
